SCHOOL BOARD WINS SETTLEMENT

A Record Law Suit Is Over

The longest trial in the history of San Mateo County ended Friday with a decision in favor of the Jefferson Union High School District.

After three days of deliberation, a Superior Court jury in Redwood City awarded $92,500 in damages to the school district for erosion damage to the Westmoor High School site.

The trial lasted 55 days, surpassing by three days the county's previous longest trial.

The case was somewhat unusual in that it pitted a lone female deputy district attorney, Lois Scampini, against six male lawyers.

The school district had charged that a host of defendants were responsible for grading adjoining land to Westmoor so severely that it caused an acre of the high school property to slide away.

At the end, Miss Scampini asked $150,000 damages for the school district.

The jury awarded $80,000, against the McKeon interests. It also awarded $12,500 to the Callan interests against McKeon.

Callan had cross-filed against McKeon. Although the property was owned by the Callans, the McKeons were obligated to grade it for a shopping center by virtue of a previous court decree.

In addition to the cross-complaint filed by Callan, others of the defendants sued each other.

"It was one of the most complicated cases in the history of the county court," said Judge O'Keefe.

The end of the trial will have a side-effect.

It will clear the way for Judge O'Keefe to move his court into the Hall of Justice and make way for Municipal Judge Frank J. Comaich.

The switch will complete the consolidation of the departments of the Municipal Court in the old courthouse building and of the Superior Court in the Hall of Justice.

GOP TO GATHER

The Big Time For Daly City

(Editorial, Page 10)

Daly City will become one of the biggest little cities in the nation Monday when the Cow Palace becomes the scene of the 1964 Republican National Convention.

The big gathering has been billed by many newspapers and television media as a San Francisco extravaganza, but Daly City and San Mateo County, where the Cow Palace is actually located, will be very much in evidence when the delegates gather.

First thing that will greet the delegates as they wend their way to the giant sports center will be a 40-foot banner welcoming them to Daly City. The banner was erected by the city council and the Daly City Chamber of Commerce.

Then after they seat themselves, San Mateo County Congressman J. Arthur Younger will give the welcoming address which will be nationally televised.

The address will mark the beginning of the convention on Monday, at 10 a.m.

California Senator Thomas Kuchel, San Francisco Mayor John Shelley, former Mayor George Christopher and Congressman William Maillard will also be on the welcoming program.

When and if demonstrations take place at the convention, it will be Daly City Police and San Mateo County Sheriff's deputies who will move in to handle the demonstrators.

The two departments have

How It Will Be Covered

Special coverage of the Republican National Convention next week will be provided by a team of San Mateo Times reporters and photographers.

Heading the team will be prize-winning reporter George Golding who recently won a state Associated Press award for his coverage of an all-night hearing on the firing of a Mills High School teacher.

The Times will be on sale at newsstands and at the office of The Post, 30 Park Plaza Drive, Daly City.

Police Gird For Possible CORE Clash

Police, smelling the possibility of trouble, are going to try to keep a trainload of Goldwater supporters away from the Cow Palace during the convention.

There have been reports that on Monday when the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) plans to have some 6,000 members on hand at the Cow Palace for a demonstration against the Arizona senator, the group of young Republicans will counter with a force of 3,000 of their own members.

If it happens, it could mean trouble.

But Undersheriff Wesley A. Pomeroy said he doubts that it will happen.

"In the first place," he said, "CORE's plans are not definite. And we are doing all we can to convince the Goldwater support-

Planners to Hear Zoning Plea Again

The Daly City Planning Commission will try once again Tuesday night to reach a decision on a request from Argyle Investment Company of San Francisco to rezone property north of Eastmoor Avenue and east of Zita Manor from commercial to apartments.

Because of opposition by residents of the proposed apartment development, builder Gus Pedemonte has changed the plan at least twice.

In other business concerning apartments, Henry Doelger Incorporated in asking a rezoning from commercial to apartments for property on the southeast corner of Junipero Serra and Alemany Boulevard.

Dante Giosso of San Francisco is asking for a use permit to build apartments in a commercial zone on the north side of School Street between Station Avenue and the railroad tracks.

Joint Libraries Are Considered By City, JUHSD

By LOUANNE HEATH

Plans for future co-operative efforts to provide Daly City and the Jefferson Union High School District with an additional swimming pool and one or more jointly-operated libraries were approved Monday night during the annual joint meeting of the City Council and the trustees of the high school district.

Group Offers New Data on Hickey Route

South San Francisco city council ran into a barrage of unpleasant facts about Hickey Boulevard Monday night and as a result the county was no closer to having the road declared part of the county highway system than it was two months ago.

The biggest bombshell was dropped by two residents in the West Winston Manor subdivision who had traced the description of the road's boundaries on a map and had discovered that instead of seven homes, the proposed expressway would displace 13 homes, and a playground.

A legal description of the road extension, used by the city in a proposed resolutions, had listed only the seven homes. The description had been provided by the county and had also been included in a county board of supervisors' resolution passed May 5.

John Pene, 116 Dunnan Way, and Al Romine, 113 Dunnan Way, presented their map to the council after Pene delivered a long tirade, charging councilmen with "concealing facts" and trying to "railroad" the proposed highway through the subdivision.

Mayor Patrick Ahern said the council had gone to extremes to help the homeowners find answers to their questions. He said the council had been told only seven homes would be affected.

Paul Kaufmann, 109 Longford Drive, also contributed to the barrage with a presentation of several conflicting reports on drainage of the area, which he claimed would be aggravated by the Hickey extension.

In a report to the two governing bodies, City Manager Edward Frank, explained that the concept of jointly operated libraries was a relatively new one to be studied in Daly City.

"At the present time, the public facilities are packed each evening by the high school age group," Frank reported.

"This has tended to discourage adults and younger children from using the libraries and they are in danger of becoming classified as hangouts for teen-agers—teenage jungles, so to speak.

"In addition, these young persons are causing considerable wear and tear upon the books, making it necessary to spend a disproportionately large sum on replacement of material."

Supt. Edward D. Morgan of the high school district acknowledged the fact that the

S.F. Undertakes Studies of D.C. Bus Route Plan

The possibility of extending San Francisco's bus lines to Daly City "looks encouraging," Councilman Francis Pacelli reported this week.

Pacelli, fellow councilman Albert Polonsky, City Manager Edward Frank and City Engineer William Chapman met with officials of the San Francisco Municipal Railways System Thursday to discuss the extension.

Three possible routes were given to the San Francisco Municipal Railways to study for cost feasibility, traffic control and road accessibility.

Vernon Anderson, head of the San Francisco utility, told the Daly City officials his engineers would begin studies immediately and a survey should be completed within two or three months.

In the meantime, close contact will be maintained with Frank and Chapman on the progress of the survey, Anderson said.

Pacelli said the transportation committee was very pleased with the attitude of the San Francisco officials toward the extension proposal.

The councilman said they discussed several possibilities, including a local system with transfer privileges to San Francisco's main routes.

The proposed route extensions given to San Francisco for study include extension of the No. 28 line into Southern Hills, an extended route through the Crocker tract and extension of the No. 14 line along Mission Street and through Westlake.

The No. 14 line would run past Mary's Help Hospital, the St. Francis Square Shopping Center, along Southgate Avenue, past the Skyline Plaza and Westlake Shopping Centers and along Alemany Boulevard and Knowles Avenue to Mission Street.

Pacifica to Air Plan on House Moves

A new ordinance tightening regulations governing the moving of house and other buildings within the city and requiring a building permit for each such move will be introduced tonight to the Pacifica City Council.

The City Engineer's office has prepared the strict moving ordinance upon orders of councilmen who last month viewed a series of photographs showing homes that had been moved from one site to another. The Council decided the photographs indicated a need for overhauling Pacifica's house-moving regulations.

The situation was made

SECOND DEGREE MURDER

Youth Convicted Of Killing Father

Seventeen-year-old Michael Kelley of Daly City has been convicted of second degree murder in the shooting of his father May 12 and has been committed to the California Youth Authority where he could be held until he is 25.

Superior Court Judge Frank W. Rose, who handed down the decision in Juvenile Court last week, said the killing did not appear to be legally premeditated—a requirement of first-degree murder.

Kelley had shot his father, James Kelley, 52, in their apartment at 112 East Moltke Street, and then lived with the body for six days before he tried suicide

Sanitation Tax Rate to Drop 5 Cents

The North San Mateo County Sanitiation District has announced a probable five-cent drop in its tax rate for next year.

The five cent decrease, from 46.5 cents to 41.3 cents per $100 assessed valuation, would offset—in effect—a proposed five-cent raise in the Daly City's tax rate.

A total budget of $515,025 was passed Monday by the district's Board of Directors, according to Engineer-Manager Robert Bernicchi.

The district's tax rate may drop even lower than five cents when the assessed valuation figures are complete.

In preparing the budget, Bernicchi estimated the valuation of the district at $77,521,000.

Bernichi credited much of the tax drop to favorable bids received last year in the construction of the district's outfall line. The directors had budgeted for larger expenditures.

He said the directors have followed a "pay as you go" policy on budgeting ahead for

FATHER HELD

S.S.F. Infant Is Shot

Three-year-old Paul Mendez of South San Francisco was apparently offered up on the sacrificial altar of love and hate Monday morning by his gun-wielding father.

The infant was rushed to Peninsula Hospital just after 9:30 a.m. with bullet wounds of his chest, abdomen, and leg.

He was immediately hurried into surgery. Doctors yesterday listed his condition as critical.

The son of William and Ruth Mendez, the bleeding Paul was carried by his father into the green-shuttered grey house of his aunt, Mrs. R. Manlopig, 145 Ramona Avenue.

South San Francisco police say Mendez apparently shot the boy rather than return him to his mother, who lives in Northern California.

Blood ran so freely from the toddler's wounds, police say, that they could not at first determine just where the boy was injured.

While the boy was taken to the hospital, police quizzed his father.

They learned that the child's mother lives at Smith River, north of Crescent City.

Young Paul, whose fourth birthday is August 1, and his sister, age 11, were reportedly on a 10-day stay so their father could visit them while divorce proceedings continue.

The two children were to have returned home Monday, it was said.

Mrs. Manlopig, herself the mother of eight children, said she was shocked at the tragedy. She said she did not know exactly what had happened.

GOP CONVENTION EFFECT

A Bonanza for the County

By LEE QUARNSTROM

(Editor's Note: This is the last of a series of articles on the 1964 Republican National Convention at the Cow Palace next week.)

CONVENTIONS are big business. They mean a lot of money to host communities.

During the past year ending April 30, 693 sales meetings, conferences and conventions were held in San Mateo County.

The San Mateo County Convention and Visitors' Bureau estimates that each conventioneer spends an average of $50 per day while attending such affairs.

The bureau estimates that conventions meant $7.7 million in revenue for county businesses during the fiscal year.

And Ken Brown, executive secretary of the bureau, estimates that almost 7,000 delegates, press personnel and technicians for the Republican convention in July will be quartered in San Mateo County.

During the four days of the convention alone, that would be a total of $1.4 million spent in the county.

Many of those who will stay in the county will be here even longer. They include television and radio technicians who have been working at the Cow Palace in advance of the convention and will have to remain to dismantle broadcasting equipment after the last delegate is safely back at home.

"It will be a big shot in the arm for the county's economy," Brown predicts.

He says that money spent by the conventioners will circulate and recirculate several times, providing more jobs for workers in the county, adding to the tax coffers and ultimately benefitting all who reside in the county.

THE BUREAU says that the convention will provide further benefits to the county long after the last hurrah rocks the Cow Palace.

Delegates who like San Mateo County, and how could they not?, will promote the county as the site for other conventions for other groups, Brown says.

Some of them might even decide to pull up roots and move out to the Peninsula, he adds.

Fifty to 60 per cent of the hotel and motel rooms in the county have been reserved for persons connected with the convention.

The county boasts of about 5,000 rooms, although the figure should be higher to provide better accommodations for large groups.

THE TEXAS GOP delegation, for instance, and part of the Alabama delegation is booked into the Sheraton-Villa in San Mateo for the duration of the convention. The Villa reservations were made many months ago to avoid the last-minute embarrassment of lack of rooms.

The Hillsdale Inn made reservations last year for a South Dakota group attending the convention.

The Thunderbird booked a block of rooms last summer for a crowd of Barry Goldwater supporters who will be at the convention.

Television crews are booked into the International Inn, the Hyatt House and a multitude of other hotels and motels on the Peninsula.

Convention staff workers and a United Air Lines bureau will be quartered in the Benjamin Franklin Hotel for the affair.

In fact, most hotels and motels in the county are either booked up already for the convention or expect to do a land-office business during the week of July 13.

SAN FRANCISCO, of course, expects to reap even greater financial benefits from the convention. That's one of the primary reasons, if not the main reason, that officials of the city have been working so hard to organize the convention and to attract other conventions to San Francisco.

At least 15,000 persons connected with the GOP meeting will stay in San Francisco hotel rooms.

All these facts and figures are important to the economy of the region and of the state.

But it's quite probable that the financial significance of the convention will fall into the background during next week when the Cow Palace becomes the center of attraction.

For the decision made on the floor of the big arena building will have effects not only on the Bay Area and on San Mateo County.

It could very well have a significant effect on the future course of history.

Pacifica to Air Plan on Home Moves

more acute when buildings were uprooted by freeway construction and transferred to other locations within the city.

The proposed ordinance stipulates that no person, firm, company or coporation can move any building without first securing a permit from the council.

Applications for a permit would contain detailed descriptions of the building, present site, proposed site, moving contractor and route over which the building would be moved.

An applicant would be required to file a bond in a sum determined by the council of not less than $1000.

The bond would bind him to comply with all conditions of the permit and relieve the city of all responsibility for any damages resulting in the move.

The ordinance also would compel the applicant to complete the work within the time allotted in the permit.

He would be required to have the relocated building comply with all city health, building and zoning ordinances and regulations.

Moving contractors would be given ten days after relocating to rid the original site of all debris.

The moved building could not be occupied until all repairs and renovations are completed and the building inspector gives final approval of both the building and the original site.

Under the ordinance, violators would be guilty of a misdemeanor and risk of fine, imprisonment or both.

In other action, the council will consider a complaint from Joseph E. McGuigan who states that his draining ditch is insufficient to remove run-off water from his property, which causes his land to become flooded.

He says his property, with standing water, is a breeding place for mosquitos and rats, and that raw sewage flows into his ditch to create health and safety problems.

ers that they should not go near the Cow Palace."

Pomeroy was asked if he felt that his force of some 150 officers could handle the situation if the two groups should clash.

"I'd be a fool if I said we could handle any possible situation," the undersheriff said. "Because this is all new to us. I may end up with a bloody nose, but I have every expectation that there will be no major trouble at the convention."

Concerning CORE's plans, Pomeroy said that Malcolm Burnstein, the organization's attorney, is due here from the group's national convention in Kansas City Monday and will confer with him then.

"As of now," Pomeroy said, "they don't know how many people they will have there or what their tactics will be.

Construction Outruns 1964

Sixty new apartment buildings approved in Daly City in the first six months of this year have helped push the value of new building construction in the city to almost double the total for the comparable period last year.

During the first six months of 1964, 528 building permits were issued by the Daly City Building Inspector's office. This compares with 499 permits issued during the same period in 1963.

The estimated cost of construction is $7,305,520, compared to last year's $3,774,135.

By July of last year, only seven apartment buildings were in the construction stage and their estimated cost of construction was $1,057,200.

This year's 60 apartment buildings have an estimated construction cost of $4,588,790.

The building of new homes also is moving at a faster pace in Daly City this year with most of the construction in the Southern Hills Development.

A total of 129 building permits for homes estimated to cost $1,895,539 were issued in the first six months.

Last year's figures were 107 homes with an estimated cost of construction of $1,553,615.

June was the slowest month in number of permits issued, but it was the second highest in estimated cost of construction. A total of 71 permits were issued and the cost of construction was $1,523,335.

May was the busiest month of the first six with 119 permits being issued for construction valued at $2,275,144. Once again it was apartments that paved the way with permits being issued for buildings containing 241 units.

school district is aware of the problems faced by the city as the need to have access to library materials by young people increases.

"Since the advent of sputnik and the subsequent increased emphasis upon research and homework, high school youngsters have been packing the libraries. Not just here, but all over the United States. This has caused a real problem.

"To date," Morgan said, "more than 120 communities across the country have established public libraries in high schools."

With the school district currently preparing to construct two new schools within the next few years, the two boards voted to consider a study to be made by Frank on a jointly operated library for a new school to be situated in the Serremonte tract.

Also to be considered is a similar facility for a school to be built in the Crocker tract.

In considering the possibility of joint financing for a swimming pool to be built at Westmoor High School, members of both boards agreed to consider recommendations to be made by their administrative staffs.

Mayor Micheal DeBernardi requested that a report be made in a month.

In other business, the school board pledged to work more closely with the city's recreation department in an effort to ease overtaxing of gymnasium facilities during night school programs.

Both boards agreed that it will be necessary to see architects' drawings and to have more facts and cost figures available before there can be more specific talks concerning the rental of office space in the new city hall by the school district.

ONE BUS TO GO

Northgate Meets PUC Conditions

Northgate Transit Lines is ahead of schedule in meeting a number of conditions the State Public Utilites Commission set up when it granted the carrier a five-cent fare boost earlier this year.

A transportation engineer of the commission said last week the bus line must replace one more bus in order to meet all of the commission's demands.

Northgate was ordered to hire a general manager and to set up a preventative maintenance program by April 14 and to replace five of its ten buses by February 14, 1965.

Hilton H. Nichols, a commission engineer, said that Joseph Estrada was named general manager of the firm long before the April 14 deadline.

According to the commission's stipulations, Estrada will be responsible for the entire Northgate operation and will have the authority to discipline drivers or withdraw the driving privileges of those drivers who do not attempt to maintain schedules and give courteous service to passengers.

Nichols had been assigned to look over Northgate's operations when Northgate applied for a rate increase last year.

He explained at a public hearing in Daly City that each driver for Northgate owns his own bus and operates it as an individual business.

There was no central authority for passengers to complain to when schedules were not met or "discourteous service" noted, he reported.

Nichols recommended at the hearing that Northgate improve vehicle preventative maintenance to ensure the safety of passengers.

He said last week there had been "real improvement" in the company's maintenance program as compared to what it was before the fare increase was granted.

been preparing for convention disorders for the past few months by holding special classes on crowds, riot control and techniques for arresting demonstrators.

Police Chief Roland Petrocchi said that peaceful and orderly demonstrations will be tolerated as long as the ground rules for picketing are followed.

Daly City will again be in evidence when delegates drive to the Cow Palace for it will be Daly City policemen who will be responsible for traffic around the convention grounds.

Only those who receive mail from delegates will not be made aware of the true location of the Cow Palace for all letters going out from convention grounds will bear a San Francisco postmark.

The regional postal director authorized the San Francisco postmaster to set up a temporary post office in the Cow Palace, which is technically in Daly City Postmaster Vincent Murphy's territory.

A last-minute plea by Younger to the Postmaster General failed and San Francisco will go ahead with the post office plans.

future capital improvements.

Among major capital outlay projects budgeted for next year are $80,000 in improvements around the plant and $40,000 for additional anchorage of the district's outfall line.

District employees received a two-and-a-half per cent across-the-board increase in pay.

In other business, the district authorized execution of an agreement with the Serramonte developers for sewage lines in the area.

Douglas presented Noonan with an inscribed gavel on behalf of the board.

Other newly-elected officers are Joseph Lewkowitz, vice president; George G. Perry, clerk, and Mrs. Katherine R. Mullen, vice clerk. Noonan was named trustee representative of the board.

Mrs. Jean Landess was reappointed executive secretary to the superintendent and board of trustees.

District Supt. Richard L. Foster recommended that the board authorize the administration to send the proposed 1964-65 budget to the county superintendent of schools for publication as required by law.

He said the proposed budget was broad enough and remaining questions of such a minor nature, that they could still be worked out before school reconvenes in September.

The trustees agreed and called a public hearing on the $4,634,000 budget for 8 p.m., August 3.

Trustees named Noonan to represent the board at a meeting tomorrow night at the San Mateo County Augmented Committee on School Unification at Jefferson High School.

by shooting himself in the stomach.

In handing down his ruling, Judge Rose commented:

"The evidence in this case involves many contradictions and inconsistencies despite the fact that Michael Kelley fired the shots that killed his father."

The jurist said considerable evidence indicated that the relationship between father and son had become "warped and deteriorated."

Investigators said that the boy and his father had moved into the apartment in March, shortly after the youth had run away from his mother, Mrs. Patricia Kelley, of 736 Niantic Avenue. The Kelleys were divorced about five years ago.

Judge Rose said that the youth had told him that during the first month, the apartment living went along smoothly.

Later, however, the senior Kelley became increasing critical of low grades the youth was receiving at Jefferson High School.

FBI Training to Help D.C. Training

By RON BATES

AS A CITY GROWS, so must the size and quality of its police force.

The size of the force is determined by the actions of the governing city council. But the quality of the force is determined by its training.

Here is where Lt. David Hansen, head of Daly City's Detective division, may fit into Chief Roland Petrocchi's plans for the future.

Hansen graduated recently from the FBI National Academy in Washington, D.C., where in addition to learning the most up-to-date techniques and methods of crime investigation, he also was taught how to organize and conduct police training schools.

Petrocchi has said that as the department gets bigger, it would be "well worth it" to develop a more extensive training program in order to maintain the department's quality.

Even if the more extensive program is not developed in the near future, the three-month stay at the academy will pay dividends to the city, Hansen believes.

THE 38-YEAR-OLD detective went to school eight hours a day and spent many evening hours studying a myriad of subjects ranging from routine police reports to intricate investigation techniques.

Even when not at school or studying, his learning process at the academy went on.

"Whenever policemen get together, they always talk shop," Hansen said. "We generally discussed problems we had in our own communities and sometimes the guy you were talking to had had the same problem or a solution to it."

In addition to this informal exposure, Hansen built up contacts throughout the country that could prove helpful someday.

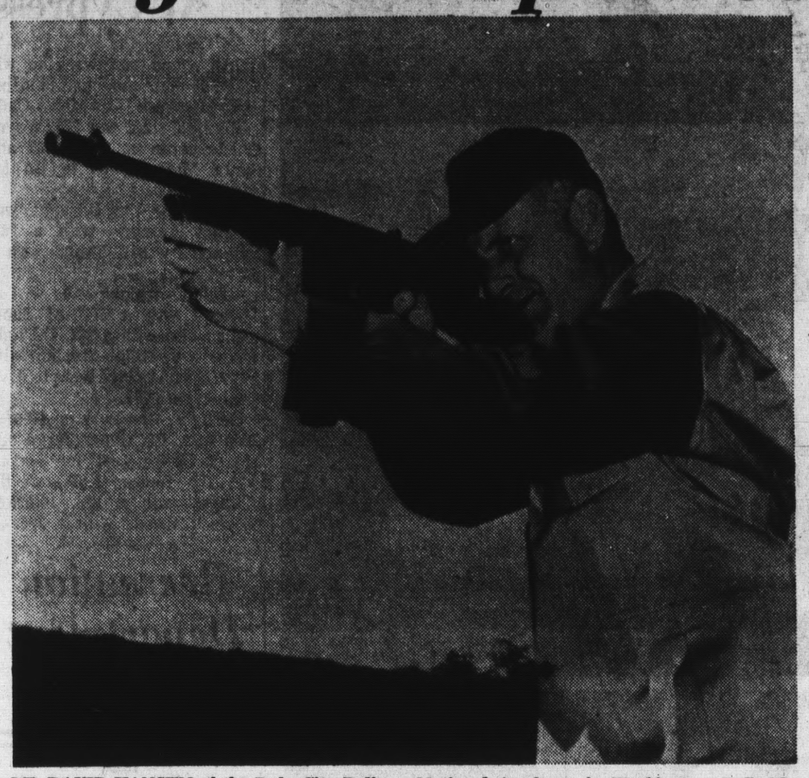
"It's much better if you know the face that goes with the voice on the other end of the line."

MOST OF THE academy's training, except for special events, was conducted by regular FBI training instructors in the agency's building in downtown Washington.

The main purpose of the school is to train administrators and investigators, Hansen said.

Several visiting instructors, not connected with the academy, gave specialized instruction. They included doctors, lawyers, a postal inspector, a narcotics investigator and even a judge.

Special events included such ativities as a visit to a hospital where dope addicts are treated. Hansen and his classmates were given the opportunity to interview some of the addicts as part of their training.



LT. DAVID HANSEN of the Daly City Police Department fires a Thompson submachine gun during a training session with the FBI National Academy in Washington, D.C. The firearms range is at Quantico, Va.

Another special event was a trip to Fort Belvoir, Va., where the army put on a riot control demonstration complete with speeches, mobs, fires, and overturned cars.

Hansen said the demonstration was slanted toward the military is handling of the situation but nevertheless was very informative.

A WEEK WAS spent at the Quantico Marine Base where the FBI Academy uses firing range facilities. In addition to shooting weapons ranging from the shutgun to pistol, Hansen went through the academy's various reaction ranges.

On one range, for example, two targets would pop up simultaneously. One target would have a man with a gun ready to fire and the other would have an armed man using a woman as a shield.

The regular course of instruction in Washington also included research techniques. Hansen headed a 13-member committee that compiled a 160-page paper on gambling.

"The members of the committee were from widely separated parts of the country," Hansen said. "They had a lot to contribute."

During a week where in which students could specialize, Hansen studied police administration.

One of the aspects things about the school that impressed Hansen the most, were the students and their wide regional backgrounds.

One of the students was from the Venezuela National Guard in Montinegro and the crimes he dealt with most were sabotage and murder.

On the other hand, there was an inspector from Massachusettes whose sole job was to prosecute misdeameanors.

IN TALKING to others, Hanson concluded that California and New York are the most advanced states in making police work a professional occupation and that Daly City's recruitment procedure is better than most police departments.

Another facet included in the course of instruction, Hansen said, was the degree to which police departments should co-operate with newspapers.

On this point, the assassinations of President John Kennedy and Lee Harvey Oswald in Dallas were discussed thoroughly.

In order to qualify for the school, Hansen had to pass strict mental and physical tests. The classes are held only twice a year and the size generally is about 60 students. Hansen's class totaled 92.

Hansen is a graduate of Jefferson High School and the City College of San Francisco. He has attended San Francisco State College and needs a few units for a degree in public administration.

He also has received special instruction at the College of San Mateo and College of Marin.

He received his recruit training at the San Francisco Police Academy when he first joined the Daly City Police Force as a patrolman in 1949. He was promoted to lieutenant in February of 1961.

During his attendance at the academy, Lt. John Walsh headed the detective division.

Hansen is back at his own desk now, but something new has been added.

A binder full of notes from the FBI Academy, some his own and some printed, is readily accessible.

Thieves Swap Auto Tires

A car stolen from Gateway Chevrolet at 7400 Mission Street in Daly City last week turned up in the parking lot of the Mission Drive-in Theatre —with a slight change.

The thieves had removed two rear tires from the 1964 model and substituted bald tires, Daly City police reported.

Fire Training Certificate Given Daly City Captain

Capt. Vern Brooke of the Daly City Fire Department has received a certificate for completing a fire training program conducted by county firefighting agencies.

Presentation of the certificate was made at the fifth annual fire training dinner in the Villa Chartier in San Mateo.

Brooke was among 31 firemen from throughout the county who received certificates, signifying that they had completed their studies in the program.

Present were Daly City Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy, Personnel Board Chairman Joseph Schultz and board members Robert Young and Melford Battye.

Twenty-three Daly City firemen are enrolled in the training program. It covers all phases of fire-fighting techniques and administration, fire prevention, administration of personnel and public speaking.

San Mateo Fire Chief Noe Chanteloup acted as chairman of the awards dinner. He noted that each completion certificate represents 270 hours of classroom work by a fireman on his own time.

Liquid Resin Class Begins

A summer creative arts class in liquid resin, cooking crystals and marbles will begin tomorrow night at the House of Parties.

Some openings still exist, according to Mrs. Jerrold Orloff, who will be the instructor. The openings will be filled on a first-come first-served basis, she said.

Registrations will be taken by Mrs. Orloff at WY 2-4237 or at the door tomorrow night.

The class will be held once a week for the next eight weeks. A $15 fee will be charged that included a beginners' project kit or an advanced kit for those already familiar with resin work.

Foster Given Salary Boost, New Contract

Supt. Richard L. Foster received a pat on the back from the board of trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District at a special board meting last week.

The pat took the form of a new four-year contract, replacing a four-year pact that had one year to go, and a $1,000 raise in salary to $21,000 a year.

Foster has been with the district since 1959.

In other action, the bord accepted the resignation of Jack Hanley as director of personnel.

Hanley joined the district last year after serving as superintendent of schools in Sebastopol (Sonoma County) for five years.

Late last year he was charged with grand theft by Sonoma County authorities. He recently pleaded nolo contendere to the charge. He had submitted his resignation to the district before entering the plea.

HE'LL HEAD BOARD

S.S.F. Schools Re-Elect Hanson

South San Francisco school trustees last week re-elected Roger Hanson president of the board, and renamed Mrs. Lorraine Cooper as vice president.

Hanson was also named trustee representative to the county school groups, and Hale Porter was chosen clerk of the board.

Trustees adopted a tentative budget totaling $7,009,403 and including all general, special, and bond redemption funds. A public hearing on the budget was scheduled for August 3.

Mrs. Penny Hamilton, cafeteria supervisor, reported that increased use of the school's food facilities had resulted this past year in making her operation nearly self-sustaining.

It was reported that tax subsidy of the meal market amounted to only $293.48 during the past year.

Trustees directed Mrs. Hamilton to expand her efforts next fall by providing box lunches for the three schools which do not now have cafeteria facilities: Ponderosa, Serra Vista, and Monte Verde.

The box lunches, they said, should include milk, and a hot meal.

Trustees adopted a formal policy on evaluating books and other teaching materials, accepted two resignations, and approved hiring of nine teachers.

The board approved a ballot statement regarding the September 15 bond election. The statement points out that the $2,945,000 bond issue would only cost homeowners about $4 each per year, and would provide facilities made necessary by continued population growth.

No Vacation For Washer

Edna Baker of 80 Avalon Drive, Daly City, was on vacation last week but apparently her dishwasher wasn't.

That is to say, police noticed water running out of her home and after joining forces with firemen to break into the house, discovered the dishwasher running.

Coast Mate Arrested in Wife Attack

A 40-year-old Pacifica beautician was placed in the intensive care unit of Peninsula Hospital last week following extensive surgery.

She was slashed in the neck by her estranged husband a few moments after she returned home last Wednesday afternoon with the couple's five children, Pacifica police reported.

Held in a ward at San Mateo County General Hospital on a charge of an assault with intent to commit murder after he reportedly slashed his own neck was the husband, Commodore William Moss, 47, of San Francisco.

Officer Mel Nelson said that when he first arrived at the home of Mrs. Ruth Moss at 1108 Rosita Road shortly after 4 p.m. he found a group of excited neighbors outside. One woman screamed, "There's a man inside killing a woman."

Rushing into the home, Nelson found another group of women standing in the living room and Mrs. Moss standing in the hall, bleeding profusely from the neck and holding a towel against herself. Her husband, also bleeding from the neck, was standing nearby, his empty hands at his side. Nelson reported the bathroom and walls were spattered with blood.

Officers reported Moss was arrested locally on January 7, 1963, for drunk driving and two weeks later for disturbing the peace. Mrs. Moss told officers her husband was arrested recently in Crescent City for assaulting her as they were driving through that town.

Sharp Park Blacked Out By Several Pole Fires

A series of pole fires set off by a drizzling pre-dawn rain Saturday morning caused a power blackout in the Sharp Park area of Pacifica which lasted more than three hours.

Pacifica firemen reported that they answered alarms for two pole fires almost at the same time shortly after 4:30 a.m.

One on Moana Way in the Brighton Beach vicinity, touched off a power failure in the Sharp Park area when a 12,000 volt line dropped down on a transformer, knocking it out.

The other, on Nelson Avenue in the Pacifica Manor area, burned two holes completely through a wooden pole, although the pole did not drop.

South San Francisco firemen extinguished one early morning pole fire.

OUR OLD pal Alvin Dark wins more games accidentally than Casey Stengel dreams about—and when you manage the Mets, that's considerable.

Case in point. Remember that June 5 game against the Phillies in Connie Mack Stadium, when Alvin defied The Book by ordering the winning run moved to third and got away with it?

If you don't, we'll recreate the situation for you so as to make our point about Alvin's accidental wins more meaningful.

It was the tenth inning, the game tied at 3-3, there were two outs, men on first and second, Tony Gonzalez at bat and Bob Shaw pitching.

Dark ordered Gonzalez walked to get to rookie Danny Cater, which put the potential winning run on third, where swift Johnny Callison could have scored on a balk, walk, passed ball, wild pitch, error, catcher's interference, hit batsman, stolen base—you can probably think of a couple of others.

Cater hit a fly ball to Mays, the Giants went on to win, and Dark was hailed as a Mad Genius.

When reporters later asked Alvin his reasoning, he said that Gonzalez gets paid $30,000 a year to break games up, whereas Cater hadn't "won his letter yet."

WELL, NOW, we'll admit that anyone could readily see that a statement like that is pregnant with baseball savvy, but even more interesting was a recent article in the Sporting News which revealed several things of which Dark's thumb was apparently unaware at the time.

First of all, the Sporting News noted that at the time of the incident, Gonzalez was hitting .248 and was in the throes of a 4-for-41 slump, while Cater was one of the hottest hitting rookies in baseball, whacking .339.

The Sporting News also hinted that Alvin thought Cater was a switch-hitter, when in reality Danny has always been a pure-bred righty.

Dark also mentioned, in an after-game interview, that he didn't know from which side Cater batted, because he had never seen him play before.

Whereupon a reporter informed bright-eyes that in the previous Phillies series in San Francisco, Cater had played first base and batted cleanup.

Oh, yeh. The final blow. From whom did Alvin ascertain his information as to how Danny batted and what he was least likely to hit? Simple. He walked out to first base and asked Orlando Cepeda, who, like Gonzalez, gets paid to break up ball games, not manage, scout, or advise.

Yes, sir. That takes sheer genius, picking up intelligence information from Orlando Cepeda.

PLEASE, Sporting News, oh, please be wrong for the sake of all our unborn children who, we feel certain, someday hope to see another World Series in San Francisco.

GUESS that's why the Yankees keep winning.

They not only scout bonus babies, they scout other major league teams—and other major league farm clubs, so that their management knows all these things.

And so that they know who they're trading for, and why they're passing certain players up. And so that they can pick up those just right National Leaguers they've so often seemed to need to clinch a pennant.

If only Charley Finley really knew how he's been beaten, he'd have much greater peace of mind . . . and could move his darned fences all back again.

THINKING THINGS ABOUT BASEBALL:

This may seem obvious, but here it is, anyway. Good relief pitchers are almost always nurtured by good teams, and not vice-versa.

Way we figure it, a bad team is so often so far behind, it either tends to let its starter get his lumps so as not to upset what flimsy rotation system it has; or, pressure situations are so rare, a reliever gets little practice at knowing what it's really like to have a game riding on his every pitch.

Thus, a relief pitcher on a poor team never really has much chance to show off his ability to cope with the clutch situation, simply because he has few clutch situations with which to work.

And practice does tend to make as near to perfect as one can ever hope to get.

IT SEEMS every time a baseball man is asked what the biggest change in baseball has been over the past decade or so, he answers, "the slider."

We don't think that's true.

For one thing, the slider isn't a new pitch. It always existed, only before World War II they called it a "nickel curve," because that's what it is, a short breaking curve.

What we think the biggest change has been is the pitchers' control.

Think about it. There isn't a real wild man in the majors today—not of the Johnny Vander Meer-Rex Barney stripe, at any rate.

Even Ryne Duren has respectable control nowadays.

That's the big change. They just don't keep 'em on the roster, anymore, if they can't throw accurately.

STATISTICAL QUIRKS:

Know who has the best life-time earned-run-average in the major league today? Not Whitey Ford (2.78), Hoyt Wilhelm (2.74), Warren Spahn (2.98), Ron Perranoski (2.33), or even Jay Hook (5.17). Give up? It's Dick Radatz . . . 2.10!

At this writing, four of the ten top hitters in the A.L. are shortstops (Jim Fregosi, Eddie Bressoud, Wayne Causey, Luis Aparicio).

How do Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax compare—as the Montgomery Street boys would say—life-time-wise?

Surprisingly, Drysdale, who's been good from the start, has the edge on Koufax, who didn't really hit his stride until '61.

In nine years with the Dodgers, Sandy's won-loss average has been 10-7, with an ERA of 3.32, as against Don's eight year average of 15-11, 3-11.

Taking seasons in which they've each pitched 200 or better innings, Drysdale's averaged 17-13, Koufax 21.5-9.

The students receive ten half-hour lessons from accredited Red Cross instructors for a minimal cost of $3. According to co-ordinator Michael Orlich, two more teaching sessions are scheduled. They will be held Monday through July 24 and July 27 to August 7. The half-hour sessions take place from 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. To qualify, students must be at least 48 inches tall. Further information may be obtained from Orlich at PL 5-2511. (Post-Times Photo)

A brand new Junior-Senior League started last week and most of the kids have never bowled in league before. Their high scores were: Butch Grubaugh, 180—486; Al Miller, 154—431; Mary Dallaire, 145—397; Gabby Noah, 150—402; Jay Smith, 158—365 and Vickie (Kookie) Dallaire, 159—370. By the way, the kids named their league the Kegler-Kids. Judy Harp is the secretary.

There are still a couple of vacancies or vacation substitute openings. Bowling is Thursdays at 10 a.m. The league will end September 5.

THE LITTLE Bantam type bowlers are coming right along. I think it has been a very exciting experience working with the children. They are wondrful sports and show it on th lanes. Maybe some little gal or fellow is having a problem and needs encouragement. There is always a teammate eager to cheer him along if he only picks up a couple of pins.

Here are some of their scores: American Bantams: Dan Healey, 127-210; John Moore, 89; Michelle Colon, 87; Donna Dowdy, 85; National Bantams: Steve Thomas, following in mom and dad's footsteps, had a turkey and finished up with a 160 game.

A Certificate of Thanks

MAJ. BUD L. JONES of 190 Lincoln Avenue, Daly City, receives the Army Commendation Medal for meritorious service from Maj. Gen. Roy Lassetter, Jr., commanding general of the 15th U. S. Army Corps. Looking on is Maj. Jones's wife, Betty. The major was commended for resourcefulness and exceptional professional knowledge upon his retirement from the Army, June 30. He entered the service in 1944 and during his Army career served in Germany, Korea and Saudi Arabia. His last duty was in the plans, operations and training section of headquarters, 15th Corps, at the Presidio of San Francisco. "DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"

What is the relationship between nutrition and dental health?

Good nutrition is important for growth and development. Diet affects dental health to a greater degree during the early years (before the age of 8) than at any other time. Therefore, an adequate diet is needed, particularly during the growing and developing years. Some foods are more valuable than others for protecting health and promoting growth. These so-called protective foods that should form the basis of meal planning include milk and milk products, vegetables and fruits, whole grain cereals and breads, eggs and lean meats, poultry and fish.

In northern California Dr. Campbell limits his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for same; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth as even the most beautiful modern dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Vandals Use A Line From 'West Side'

Vandalism with a "West Side Story" theme was reported at Westmoor High School last week.

Only city police said vandals had smeared ink and paint on walls and cabinets and left with this message scrawled on a blackboard: "When you're a jet you're a jet all the way."

The phrase is from "West Side Story." A juvenile gang called "The Jets" plays a prominent role in the musical.

Police estimated damage at $700. Investigators said the intruders broke a window on the east side of the school to get into the building then later broke an eight-foot by six-foot plate glass window.

Stable Law Under Study

A proposed ordinance governing the construction and operation of horse stables is presently under study by the Colma City Coucil.

The ordinance was accepted by the council from a special committee composed of representatives of the Horseman's Association, the Hillside Homeowners Association, County Sanitarian Reing Lingeman and veterinarian Dr. David Barnett.

HIGHER EXPENSES

Laguna Budget Being Studied

The Board of Trustees of the Laguna Salada School District has begun a series of study discussions on a tentative budget, calling for expenditures of about a half million dollars more than last year.

The higher budget is due to the cost of operating Fairmont School, scheduled to open in September, higher costs of materials and supplies, added personnel and higher salaries.

Although the board has not adopted a salary schedule for 1964-65, it has reserved the right to raise salaries in the new school year.

The tentative budget, according to District Supt. Fred Lucas, reflects this. He said it contains monies for salary raises.

The total budget is $3,487,000, compared to $2,940,000 last year. The tax rate will remain about the same, Lucas said. This year's rate was $3.36 per $100 of assessed valuation.

No increase in the tax rate will be made possible by added revenues to meet the higher cost of operating the district.

The higher revenues will come from taxes on about $6 million more in assassed valuation than last year and more state aid because of an increase in enrollment.

Lucas said the district will have about 1050 more students when schools reopen in September. This will represent about a 13 per cent increase.

The tax rate includes the basic operating tax of $2.45, which is at a legal maximum and has remained the same for the past three years.

The remainder of the tax comprises override taxes for such expenses as community services, teachers' retirement contributions and education for the mentally retarded.

It also covers bond retirement expenses and repayments to the state bond fund.

A public hearing on the budget will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday, August 4, in the district's administration building.

BETTER BUSINESS

Deposit Denotes Business Contract

By LORENE BEASLEY
Editor, Better Business Bureau "Barometer"

THE BETTER Business Bureau receives daily calls from disgruntled customers who believe they should receive their deposit back when they change their minds about going through with a business transaction.

Too many people make a contract in haste and then wake up to the fact that they cannot, or do not want to pay for the commodity.

The payment of a deposit, as shown by a receipt, is considered sufficient evidence that an agreement has been entered into between a person who agreed to buy and a person who agreed to sell.

A percentage of the total amount of sale is the usual requirement of a "layaway" sale. This gives the seller the security that the buyer intends to fulfill the obligations of the transaction. The seller in turn agrees to take the commodity off the market until all terms of the sale are met.

IF THE BUYER changes his mind and cannot or will not fulfill his part of the contract, the seller can legally refuse to refund the deposit, unless there is evidence of fraud or misrepresentation.

If the merchant misrepresented the merchandise, or if the merchandise is defective, the buyer is justified in expecting a satisfactory adjustment or refund.

The seller might even attempt to hold the buyer to his agreement as he, the seller, took the commodity off the market in good faith and because of this lapse of time might be forced to sell at a reduced price.

Many buyers assume that because a certain store has a certain refund policy, all stores have or should have the same policy. Every store sets its own policy on returns, refunds, credits and exchanges.

THE COMMON causes of complaints regarding deposits are:

1. Verbal promises to refund are not enforceable. Any promise or agreement to refund should be in writing on the sales record of contract.

2. Do not make a deposit unless you intend to go through with the transaction.

3. Read before you sign and be sure you understand what will happen to your deposit if your credit is not approved.

4. Deal with a reputable dealer if you plan to make a deposit and payment to hold goods on layaway. Any layaway plan should provide for the purchase of the specified goods described and listed and set aside for the customer.

5. The acceptance of deposits by mail on advertised goods has been a part of many a bait scheme. If you receive a call or notice that the advertised article you gave a deposit on is out of stock and there will be a delay in delivery unless you are willing to take a more expensive product, you are being "switched" into another contract.

6. Do not sign a contract in blank. When you pay a deposit and sign a contract, be sure that all terms and conditions are filled in completely.

7. You cannot expect a refund from a company if you purchase from an independent distributor. Sometimes the salesman acts as an independent distributor, not as an agent of the company whose product he sells.

JOSEPH F. SARRO
New Sales Manager

Doelger Firm Names Sarro To New Post

Joseph F. Sarro, a veteran real estate salesman with Henry Doelger Builder Inc., has been promoted to sales manager of Fairmont Home Sales Incorporated, a subsidiary of the Doelger firm.

The promotion was announced by Edward King, vice president and general manager of Henry Doelger Enterprises.

Sarro succeeds the late William Lunch. He will be assisted by Michael Doelger.

The new sales manager has been associated with the Doelger organization for the past six years and has been in the real estate field since 1947.

Before entering the field, he was a district manager in public relations for McFadden Publications. He is a graduate of Mission High School and Heald Business College in San Francisco.

He and his wife, Julette, are the parents of five sons. The couple live at 8 Coronado Avenue, Daly City.

Advertising Excellence Award Given

The San Mateo Times retail display advertising department has received a high honor from the California Newspaper Advertising Executives' Association.

The group awarded its sweepstakes award, first place in general advertising excellence, to The Times in the top category, daily newspapers with circulations over 30,000.

The award was sponsored by Van de Kamp's Holland Dutch Bakeries.

The Times is the parent publication of The Post.

The award was presented by Newton Wallace, president of CNAEA at the association's convention in Monterey. Doug Bush, The Times retail display manager, accepted the award.

Second place in the category went to the Van Nuys News, with the Santa Barbara News-Press taking third.

Judges in the category were: Arthur Kroeger, professor of marketing, graduate school of business, Stanford University; L. W. Lane Jr., president and publisher, Lane Magazine Company, and Neal Van Sooy, editorial director, The National Press.

Earnings Up For B of A

Net earnings for the first half of 1964 amount to $1.63 per share of outstanding stock, according to the mid-year report of the Bank of America.

The half-year figure for 1963 was $1.49 per share.

The bank's total resources at mid-year were $14,809,797 or more than 1.1 billion more than the total a year ago.

New Savings Plan Offered

A new $5,000 full-paid thrift investment certificate earning 5 per cent interest per year when held two years or longer is being offered to individuals, partnerships, corporations and assocations by the Morris Plan Company of California, according to an announcement by Ralph N. Larson, president.

The certificate is designed for those who wish to invest $5,000 and multiples thereof, with the anticipation their funds will remain at Morris Plan for a relatively long period.

The full 5 per cent per year interest will be paid by check at the end of each calendar quarter.

However, if certificates are redeemed within one year, the yield will be reduced to 4 per cent, and, if they are redeemed during the second year, the yield will be reduced to 4½ per cent.

Morris Plan will continue to accept funds in thrift passbook accounts for any amount earning 4½ per cent interest per year.

Holders of $5,000 full-paid investment certificates issued prior to July 1 also will continue to receive 4½ per cent interest per year in the event they do not wish to transfer their funds to the new 5 per cent certificates.

Richard H. Haley of Seahurst Investment Company, chairman of the board of directors, announced O'Connell's appointment. O'Connell, who has been executive vice president of the firm, will also be a director.

He replaced Herbert S. Brannon who recently resigned the presidency and a directorship and sold his interest in the corporation.

New directors of the Camino Mortgage Corporation include Antonio Montero of the Montero Corporation, F. S. Rolandi Jr. of F. S. Rolandi, Inc., and S. Logan Owens Jr. of Far Western Capital Corporation.

PACIFICA GROUP

Witnesses Will Dedicate Hall

The Pacificia Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses will dedicate its new Kingdom Hall at 500 Ebkens Street in Pacifica during a three-day program this weekend.

The principal dedication ceremony will be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday and will be conducted by Raymond W. Peters, a traveling representative of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York.

He is serving 18 congregations in the San Francisco area as circuit minister. At 3 p.m. Sunday, he will deliver a public Bible lecture on the topic: "Benefitting Eternally from God's Own Book."

According to Edward R. Sheehan, presiding minister of the congregation, the new Kingdom Hall was built entirely by volunteer help. He commented:

"It is our hope to make it a center of pure worship that will contribute to the spiritual uplift and welfare of the community."

In addition to the Saturday and Sunday programs, a service will be held at 8 p.m. Friday in the hall.

About 100 members of the congregation plan to attend the annual district convention of Jehovah's Witnesses in Santa Rosa August 6-9.

Sacrament to Be Observed

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed at the 10 a.m. worship service of Broadmoor Presbyterian Church Sunday. The sacrament is observed seven times a year at Broadmoor.

Elders of the church will serve. Rev. Herbert C. Tweedie pastor, will preach on the subject: "The Prayer of Relinquishment."

Cancer Talks To Be Given

Featured during the monthly meeting of the Ladies' Guild of Hope Lutheran Church at 8 Tuesday evening will be a film and discussion on the subject of cancer in women.

Two representatives of the American Cancer Society will speak.

Social Action Service Will Be Conducted

A special Social Action service will be held at 8 Friday night at Congregation Judea on Brotherhood Way.

Rabbi Herbert Morris, in announcing the service, stressed the importance of religion in community affairs. He stated:

"As one of the great national political parties meets in our city to present its candidates and programs for the American public to evaluate, the people holding strong religious convictions must not shy away from stating and re-stating their views again and again.

"The major crisis on the present American scene is that of providing equal opportunity for all citizens. This is basically a moral problem.

"Housing, hunger and unemployment are three areas where every citizen ought to be involved. In our land of plenty, no one should be allowed to starve, either physically or spiritually."

Chairmen of the Congregation's Social Action Committee are Dr. Sylvan Eisenberg and Mrs. Gertrude Langfelder.

Pacificans and The Referendum

AAUW Debates Repeal Merits

A panel of speakers from Pacifica's American Association of University Women debated the merits of the forthcoming initiative referendum to repeal the Rumford Fair Housing Act before members of Holy Cross Lutheran Church in the church.

The panel comprised Mrs. Ralph Adams, moderator; Mrs. Howard Edminster, Mrs. William Henderson, Mrs. David Marvin and Mrs. Kent Wilby.

Mrs. Marvin said the emergence of the Negro middle class was a triumph of the American tradition of the melting pot over obstacles that have been imposed on no other minority.

Mrs. Edminster showed how fair housing laws in California and other states have protected the rights of both property owners and prospective buyers or tenants.

Mrs. Wilby quoted legal authorities to show that, unlike the rights of life and liberty, rights in the use and sale of property are created by law and are limited for the sake of the general welfare.

Mrs. Henderson said the initiative against fair housing would undermine representative government and the courts in California.

Mrs. Irene McShane was chairman of arrangements.

Jewish Center Opposes Move

The Jewish Community Center of Pacifica has adopted a resolution condemning the initiative referendum to repeal the Rumford Fair Housing Act.

The action represents the first time the center has expressed itself on an issue of this nature.

Nathaniel Marks, new president of the center, declared:

"We are proud to be the first religious group in our city to align with the campaign of the Pacificans for Fair Housing Committee to help defeat this proposition for legalized discrimination in housing."

The resolution states in part: "... we cannot remain silent in the face of this vicious and shameful attempt to make the State of California the backhanded supporter of racial and religious bigotry.

"We are, therefore, compelled to abandon the strictly nonpolitical role which we have maintained throughout the history of this organization and for the first time to present our views as a group on an issue before the voters."

COMMENT

Let's Smile The Brightest

ALL THE HOOPLA over the last year and a half or so about who will be the Republican standard bearer in next year's national elections will come to a head next week in the Cow Palace—right in our backyard.

That our own Daly City, population 56,000, will host an event of such national and international importance is something that should prompt us all to break out in a rash of civic pride.

The whole thing was made possible, of course, when the city annexed the Cow Palace almost a year ago. And anything staged in the big Geneva Avenue arena—ranging all the way from livestock shows to the Beatles—is thereby staged in Daly City.

HOWEVER, that sort of reasoning, as we've seen from the war of words going on among Daly City, San Mateo County and San Francisco, is an over simplification.

For San Francisco would have the world believe that the GOP kingmakers will decide in San Francisco who will head the Republican ticket in November of next year.

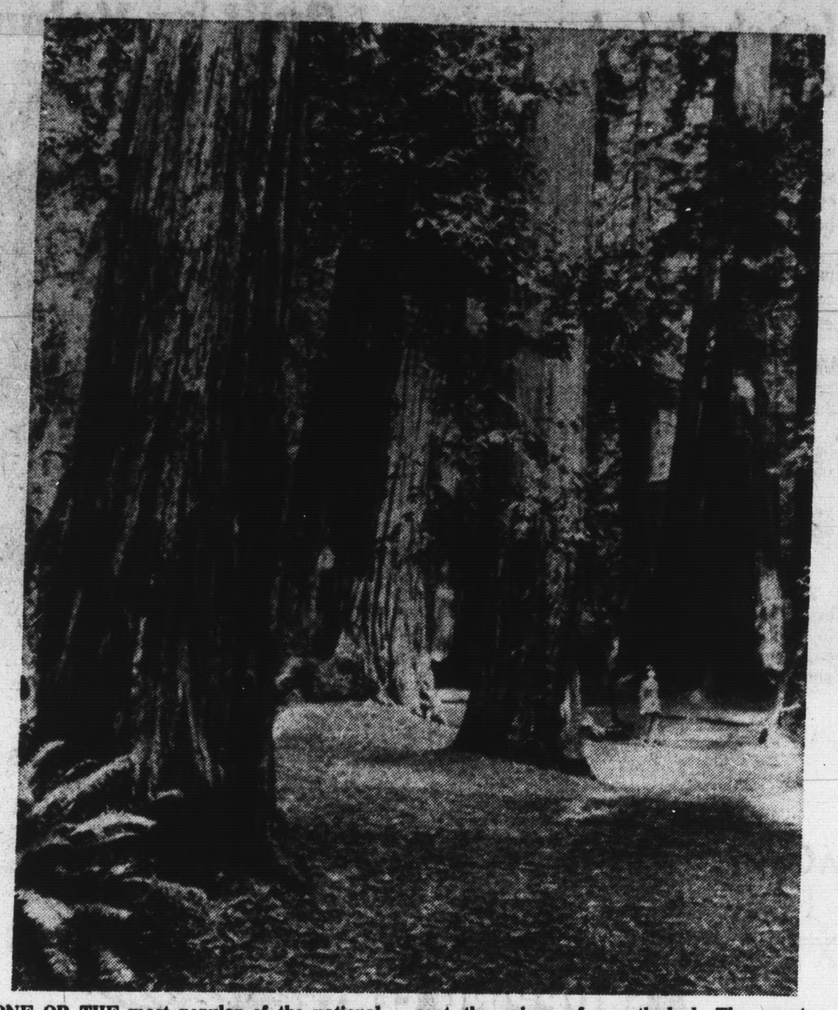
When the convention opens Monday, however, our own congressman, J. Arthur Younger, will set the record straight once and for all when he delivers the welcoming address to GOP delegates—an address in which he already has indicated he will stress the importance of Daly City and San Mateo County as the site of the convention.

WITH THE big gathering almost upon us, we believe it's about time to stop all this horn blowing—on both sides—and get down to the real task at hand, that of providing a genuinely warm and gracious welcome to the delegates who will represent every corner of these United States.

For we're convinced that after it's all over, these Republicans will remember first of all the friendly smiles and warm handshakes rather than a lot of hot air over geography.

With that in mind, let's see to it that the friendliest of the smiles and the warmest of the handshakes are exhibited by Daly City and North County folk. That's one sure way of building a reputation as gracious hosts.

Cathedral Grove



ONE OR THE most popular of the national parks in California is Muir Woods, a redwood forest preserve situated off Highway 1 on the way to the top of Mt. Tamalpais in Marin County. This view shows one of the most impressive areas of Muir Woods—Cathedral Grove—so named because the redwoods are grouped here in such a way that they represent the spires of a cathedral. The great size of the trees dwarfs a park official standing in the right background. This is another in a series of photos, depicting parks and historical areas within a day's driving time of the North County.

The Good Life At 8,141 Feet

Don Miller

ELEVENTH HOUR decisions are usually a bit tricky, we decided a long time ago, and so it was with some misgivings that we wound up with just such a decision last week as we wondered about plans for the July Fourth weekend.

As the holiday drew alarmingly close with nothing firmed up, someone suggested—almost as the clock tolled 11—that this might be a ripe time to camp out in a part of California that had become almost fabled for us—the high Sierra country along Yosemite's rooftop highway—the Tioga Pass Road.

We had heard a lot about this scenic route, built only a few years back, and all of what we had heard was absolutely enticing: spectacular vistas, the all-around smell of pine, a totally clear atmosphere, unspoiled meadows and mountains that towered more than two miles above sea level.

Today we'd like to report that all the advance huzzahs were, if anything, understated. No publicity kit, no Hollywood press agent, no propagandist could approach in words or pictures the beauty and serenity that await the visitor to Tioga Pass Road country.

To borrow an ancient cliche, it's something that must be seen to be appreciated.

OUR TRIP got into a very low gear at the rather horrifying hour of 3 a.m. Saturday, when an audacious alarm clock brazenly declared that it was the hour we had agreed upon to arise.

This agreement was sadly lamented at this point and someone suggested that perhaps it was all a mistake and that this wasn't a good weekend to travel anyway.

That kind of talk was quickly diagnosed as rationalization and once diagnosed, dismissed.

After somehow managing to boil water and steer it toward instant coffee, we gathered our gear up with the nagging feeling that what we were gathering up would turn out later to be woefully inadequate.

For since this had been an eleventh hour decision, there had been some decidedly eleventh hour preparations the night before. No list of essentials had been drawn up and as a result, the pot pourri of items that go into a camping trip had been hastily thrown into bags, cartons, thermos et al on strictly a sixth sense basis.

Once on the road and with the coffee having provided a much-needed stimulus, we all felt better and unanimously agreed that perhaps this late-hour holiday choice would turn out to be contrary to the usual eleventh hour bill of fare.

AFTER A DRIVE of about five hours through countryside that varied from the pancake-flat land of San Joaquin Valley to the foothills of the Sierra, we arrived at Yosemite's Arch Rock entrance gate where a sign warned visitors that all accommodations for the night had been reserved.

At the sight of this, we all cheered silently—smug in the knowledge that we were self-sufficient with beds and food. Accommodations we didn't need.

Once inside the park, we drove the eight miles to the Big Oak Flat Road, which doubles back—and upward—through a series of tunnels and over a mountain-hugging highway that leads to the start of the Tioga Pass Road at Crane Flat, elevation 6,195.

This road, because of heavy snow falls in the winter, doesn't open each year until about June 15 and then is open only until October 1.

From Crane Flat east, the highway climbs steadily upward until it reaches Tioga Pass, 9,941 feet above sea level, 56 miles away.

Our destination was Lake Tenaya, about two-thirds of the way to the pass. The lake as a camping place had been decided upon in the eleventh hour discussions when one of our party had extolled—almost in passionate terms—the unspoiled beauty of this part of the high country.

We soon found out the reason for this enthusiasm.

Lake Tenaya is at an elevation of 8,141 feet. It lies at the base of a towering mass of granite known as Polly Dome and is partly surrounded by lush Alpine-like meadows and thick stands of pine.

THE CAMP GROUNDS at the lake are both near the highway and away from the highway. The away area this trip could only be reached by fording a small stream—an obstacle that had discouraged some campers and encouraged others.

We were easily encouraged and after somehow transporting life, limb, charcoal and steaks across, we found a campsite on the far shore of the lake, promptly claimed said same and then turned to look at just where we were.

And where we were seemed unreal. Lake Tenaya, reflecting the unfiltered blue of the heavens, sparkled in the sunshine. Across the waters, a great wall of rock framed the scene. Only the soft lapping of lake water and the sound of the wind in the pines broke the stillness.

The rest of the weekend with the exception of an intermittent war with mosquitos (we had forgotten insect repellent) was spent literally drinking in this idyllic setting.

When we reluctantly broke camp Sunday, motoring into the Tioga Pass Road country we realized that we had been remiss in not motoring into the Tiogo Pass Road country before.

We also realized that the next time we decided to camp out at 8,141 feet, it would not be an eleventh hour decision. It would be a foregone conclusion.

North County Notebook

An Identity Of Its Own

Ron Bates

WELL, next week Daly City becomes one of "the biggest little cites in the world." The Republicans will be here to name their presidential candidate.

Greeting them when they arrive at the Cow Palace will be a 40-foot banner stretched across Geneva Avenue. And the delegates, press, and others will have already received in their mail a handsome, four-page brochure — welcoming them and stressing the point that the Cow Palace is, indeed, in Daly City.

Now, you might ask, why should Daly City try to horn in on what has been billed as San Francisco's show?

Well, I'd say that Daly City is trying to establish itself as a city on its own. In other words, it is seeking its own identity, and rightfully so.

DALY CITY has moved up in population to become the second largest city in the county. And what with its high birth rate (the fog keeps couples indoors), it won't be long before "the Gateway to the Peninsula" is the largest.

On another front, Daly City's political position has been enhanced by Joe Verducci winning a supervisor's seat handily against a very formidable opponent in the primary last month. Jim Fitzgerald, the board's chairman, ran unopposed this time but when he first ran against Tom Callan Sr., in 1960, the race had to be decided in November.

William Werder's opponent, Nancy Jewell Cross, gave him a rough time and I believe if there were more than just two of them in the race, it, too, may have had to go to November.

GETTING BACK to the Cow Palace though, ever since the city annexed Bayshore the Cow Palace directors have been at odds with Daly City and have done everything, it seems, to frustrate city officials.

The directors have emphasized repeatedly that they want to be associated with San Francisco.

This to me seems foolish considering the Cow Palace is a state entity supposedly operated for state agricultural purposes. It shouldn't matter where the Cow Palace is located as long as it is operated properly.

That welcoming banner prompted one of the metropolitan newspapers to editorialize on Daly City's attempt to grab the convention glory. The editorial pointed out that it cost approximately $600,000 to convince the GOPers that they should hold the convention at the Cow Palace and that Daly City's share of this was nil.

I hasten to point out that Daly City residents do pay taxes to the county and the county did, in fact, contribute to the funds used in getting the Republicans out here.

POINT NUMBER TWO—Our national visitors will be sleeping and eating and entertaining themselves in San Francisco—not Daly City. So the $600,000 paid out from a fund derived from a hotel and restaurant tax can be looked on as an investment. San Francisco will be getting its $600,000 returned with quite a bit of interest.

Now let's see what Daly City will be getting, besides the national publicity it seeks.

The Cow Palace is legally in Daly City and as a result all responsibility for police services belongs to Daly City. When and if there are civil rights demonstrations and the police move in to break it up, I wonder if San Francisco would be benevolent enough to accept possible charges of "police brutality?"

Let's face it: Daly City has the responsibility and will have to face the legal consequences. So I can't see why it should sit in the background and say nothing.

IN A LIGHTER vein, when I first went over to take a picture of the welcoming banner and met several city and county officials there, I noticed that one of the air holes was smack dab in the center of one of the elephants' heads.

Knowing that City Manager Ed Frank is a good Republican, I couldn't resist giving him the needle.

"Does that hole in the elephant's head have any particular significance," I asked, "seeing that Goldwater's just about sewn up the nomination."

He looked over, stuck out his cigar at me and said: "No comment."

The Marquee

Rinky Tink In Drytown

Barbara Bladen

THE SETTING sun reflects the gold ore embedded in the brown hills. A rinky tink piano plinks out an invitation to enter the beer hall where the thirsty citizenry will vent their appreciation with hoots and hollers for the dancing belles in silks and satins.

The Mother Lode saloon shakes with the stamping and pounding of boots to the rhythm of "My Darling Clementine." The loud and lusty voices reverberate through the mine shafts and scrub brush.

Reminiscent of an era when bushy bearded miners came down from the hills and up from the rivers spruced up for a Saturday night fling and perhaps a chance to see little Lotta Crabtree or fiery Lola Montez, the scene is as modern as today.

BUT NOW drinks are paid for with paper money instead of gold ore at the Piper Playhouse in Drytown.

Customers are clean shaven (although many still wear heeled boots), don't carry guns (the cast hopes) and arrive in buses and automobiles instead of hitching their horses outside.

As for the stage show, if we didn't recognize most of the Claypipers cast as respectable Peninsula residents, we'd believe ourselves back in the Comstock's heyday.

THE TRAVELING time from most Bay Area communities is equal to that needed by the pioneers to come into town from nearby claims.

Highway 49 through Jackson connects with State Freeway 50-99 out of Stockton. It's a two-and-a-half-hour ride without heavy traffic interference.

The action at Drytown is lively. The Mother Lode populace couldn't have been more richly entertained than by the Claypipers' production of "The Curse of an Aching Heart or, Caught in the Spider's Web."

FAMILIAR faces from local little theatre productions include Bill Beauchamp, Eleanor Dietz, Lorraine Bakke, Nikki Edmonds and Wayne Warren, as "Windermere Hightower," the black-hearted villain.

He makes cold shivers run up a damsel's back when he leers across the footlights and twirls his waxed mustache.

Also in the cast, which alternates with a different cast of Peninsulans every other Saturday night, are Roxie Lewis, Herb Stubbs, Betty Casey, Barbara Hoving and Duane Edmonds. Betty Jones receives well-deserved cheers for her humorous and well-acted olio contributions.

Heed my warning. Don't show up without reservations. They have been sold out for the entire season since the first week in May.

Profundity at The Hard Luck

George Whitesell

THIS DEPARTMENT has received several recent inquiries as to the state of the nation and the ever-growing fund of world wisdom as expressed at that fine old democratic institution, the Hard Luck Bar and Grille.

We are compelled to confess that we have lately neglected this Peninsula hall of the beery intelligentsia where profound remarks are apt to be punctuated by "straight shots."

But since our recent bout with the Colly-Wobbles, the medicos have had us severely on the "Three Ps," pills, prohibition, and push-yourself-away from the feed trough.

However, we ventured in the other night for a riotous noggin of mineral water and discovered that the Hot Corner Debating Society is still going strong down at the south end of the bar.

OLD PINKY was presiding by virtue of the fact that he was buying his own beer—a sure sign that his pension check had arrived that day.

This always lends Pinky a certain opulent dignity he does not have when warily waiting to trap a "live one" into buying him a brew.

It also gives him an air of pomposity that is not punctured until his granddaughter comes to lead him home on the stroke of 9 p.m.

The topic under debate on this night was semi-domestic and dealt with the amount of canned beer a husband can reasonably expect to keep in the family refrigerator.

It was a subject being regarded with ostentatious disdain by the bartender who stood at the far end of the bar polishing last year's fly-specks from the mirror on the back-bar.

He was naturally highly conscious of the fact that beer consumed at home brings no merry jingle to the cash-register.

From his mumbling it was evident that he is in favor of a federal law limiting the sale of beer to bars and, especially, the Hard Luck Bar and Grille.

Actually the discussion was not very spirited since all the speakers tended to agree with the heavy-handed dictum of Old Pinky that the only essential use of a refrigerator is keeping a man's beer cold.

AS ONE OF them declared:

"My wife keeps the refrigerator so full of junk, milk, meat, and ali the likes of that stuff, that sometimes I can't even get a six-pack in.

"Why, he asserted indignantly, "there was one night a couple of weeks ago when I came home from work and there warn't no beer at all in that damned ice box. I would'a belted the old woman one in the chops, but she had an iron skillet in her hand an' I didn't like the looks of her."

Another member of the panel mopped his lips with the back of his hand and disclosed: "I got a system, see. I fill up the refrigerator with beer every payday an' as I use up the brew I let my wife have the space. But come next payday her stuff goes out."

A somewhat surprised stranger ventured to remark that this beery theory of housekeeping was considerably at odds with general housewifely theory of stocking the larder.

"I can't hardly believe a wife would let her whole refrigerator be filled up with beer," he said.

"You don't know my wife," was the retort.

"Yeah," says old Pinky. "I do know his wife. She don't care a bit. She drinks more brew than he does."

THIS LED to a somewhat indignant criticism of drinking wives. There was popular consensus that there is nothing worse than opening up the refrigerator and find that a wife has drained the last can of beer.

"That's the kind of thing you ought'a find out before you git married up," was one sage observation.

The most tolerant comment was, "Well, a woman can get pretty thirsty hangin' around the house all day with nothin' to do. But she ought to have the common decency to save one can for her husband."

Last word went to a hitherto silent gent who announced: "I don't have no trouble with no refrigerator an' I don't have no trouble with my wife drinkin'. I just bring home a cold six-pack every night an' drink it myself. No fuss, no bother." The wisdom of this struck everyone silent and ended the debate.

The Book Shelf

THE "COMMITTEE OF VIGILANCE" by George R. Stewart has a sub-title with these words, "Revolution San Francisco, 1851."

It is an account of the activities of the famous Vigilantes who formed a body to restore law to San Francisco—especially to suppress the activities of criminals from Australia, known as the Sydney Ducks, who were methodically looting the city.

The situation reached its climax when word leaked out that the boys from down under planned to burn the entire city to provide more opportunity for looting.

THIS KNOWLEDGE led to two historical meetings. One on a Sunday morning in the office of Samuel Brannan, the second in the California Engine House a few days later.

The former was a preliminary to the second. Those present, George J. Oakes, Brannan, and his clerk A. Wardwell, are the real fathers of the Committee of Vigilance.

During 100 days following the second meeting, the Vigilantes battled the Sydney Ducks, and defied even the governor of California.

When their battle was won, they quietly disbanded. Their success, however, inspired the organization of similar groups in California and throughout the West.

WHILE THIS is a history book, it contains the excitement and drama of a novel. Although its characters were real people, they fought with the intrigue and the violence of those in modern television Westerns.

The author, George R. Stewart, has written many books about America and especially about California. His service to the history of the state and the entire nation is great.

Recently, he retired as a professor of English at the University of California. It is hoped that he will devote his time to the production of more books like "Committee of Vigilance."

Louanne's Datebook

By Louanne Heath

THE MEMBERS of the Daly City Community Chorus are busy as bees these foggy summer days, working on new music they will be presenting during several exciting fall appearances.

According to chorus director Patti Stolz, one of the coming outstanding events will be a full hour concert over KPIX, Channel 5, during the 1964 Christmas season and another highlight will be an invitational community concert of outstanding choral selections. So greatly appreciated is this relatively new musical assemblage that all but four months of the 1964-65 are already filled to capacity with engagements.

Incidentally, if you haven't had an opportunity to hear the chorus sing, you haven't heard the clever lyrics they have added to "Little Boxes"! While much of suburban America was scowling over the scathing evaluation of life beyond the big city's limits, the local singers were composing a few lines of their own and their rendition of the Little Boxes, along with a local "post script," has brought many a smile and much good natured chuckling to audiences that seemed a mite hostile when the song was announced.

The new lines, penned by pianist Janet Holden, are:

"We who come from Daly City
Think the houses are so pretty,
And the gardens round the houses
Are kept up very well.
We have Palm trees in the front part
Pretty flowers growing on the other side
Of the boxes we are so proud of
On the hillsides everywhere.
We've no bad kids, only good ones,
No delinquents among our juveniles,
And they come from the little boxes
Made of ticky tacky, just the same;
And the young folk, and the seniors
And most of the in-between-ers
Love to live in their pretty boxes
On the hillsides everywhere."

THE BELLE-TONES' summer schedule has been announced and the new schedule for rehearsals will get underway tomorrow. The special Belle-Tone rehearsals will begin Thursday at 7:45 p.m. at Westmoor Park Clubhouse. At 8:30 p.m., the Community Chorus rehearsal will commence and both groups will continue working until 10:30 p.m.

"My girls are such good sight readers now," Mrs. Stolz reports, "that a weekly 45-minute session all to themselves will be extremely rewarding. Also, by having our men singers come a little later, we feel that they will be able to get some of those summer chores done before they have to come to rehearsal."

If you are a newcomer to the area, and want to join a musical group that has successfully combined sound music education, fun and good fellowship, make an effort to attend one of the Daly City Community Chorus rehearsals.

Auditions earlier this summer added new faces in the persons of Frossanna Vallerga, an alto, and Mary Ellen Miller, a soprano. If you think you might be interested, visit a rehearsal and then phone Mrs. Stolz, director, at the Daly City Recreation Department, PL 5-0850, for information about becoming a part of the group.

In a bit of extra curricular activity last month, members of the chorus wound up the regular rehearsal by bursting out in lullabies sung in honor of Adela Zabora, chorus secretary, who expects a baby very soon.

Refreshments chairman Betty Vincent, assisted by Jackie Madden, were responsible for keeping the shower a complete surprise to the guest of honor!

The beautifully decorated table was set in the shape of a U, allowing everyone to see all the gifts as they were opened by the tearful mother-to-be. The packages were rolled into the room in a lovely re-decorated bassinette and they overflowed onto the floor.

In summing up the sentiment of the evening, Mrs. Stolz said: "Our members have always shown a great deal of loyalty and friendship toward one another and it was never more in evidence than during this shower. We all love Adela and we would not be at all surprised to see her sitting in her regular place, a week after the new baby arrives. In fact, she claims that is exactly where she will be!"

ANNIVERSIARE D'ARGENT, is the theme for the Our Lady of Perpetual Help Mother's Club Fashion Show and luncheon to be held October 24, at the Thunderbird Hotel in Millbrae, according to Dorothy Bergin, publicity director for the event.

The theme is entirely fitting for the club is celebrating its 25th year as an official organization during the 1964-65 social season. D'Argent is the French word for silver and, according to Mrs. Bergin, guests who come to the Fashion show are in for quite a few surprises that will be appropriate to the theme of the day.

While the pace of the teenagers and Mrs. Pekkain is increasing, James Pekkain has announced that the Morning Toastmasters Club in Pacifica is going to begin a reduced summer agenda, beginning July 15. During July, August and part of September, the Toastmasters will meet every other week in the Sea Bowl at 7:30 a.m.

The women of the church attended the meeting in president Rita Sowers' home on Fairlawn Court. After the business meeting, a short entertainment program was offered, which was followed by a social hour.

Teen-agers Are Called to Work

The Volunteer Bureau announces the following jobs that need filling.

THE CHILDREN'S HEALTH HOME — needs volunteers to supervise in its expanded workshop for retarded young adults. The volunteer would check the quality of their work and allocate supplies.

THE MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES of San Mateo County—are looking for a volunteer to give a couple of hours a week to shop for the patients in the wards at the General Hospital. She would work closely with the nurse in charge of the ward and is required to have her own transportation.

Another need is for secretarial help in one of the clinics and volunteers trained in research and data collection.

College students or adults are badly needed during the summer months to serve as aides in the reception center where parents who come for treatment leave their children.

There are still many shifts available for volunteers at the International Airport to staff the Travelers' Aid booth. An orientation and training program will be given by the director soon.

A beautician is still needed by one of the hospitals to assist the patients on the wards to learn care of their hair and hair styling. A free afternoon or evening would be required.

TEEN-AGERS: Your volunteer help is still needed in the health, welfare and recreational fields in the community. If you can help out please call the Volunteer Bureau.

The Volunteer Bureau is located at 119 Primrose Road, Burlingame, and is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. The Volunteer Bureau is a project of the Assistance League of San Mateo County and shares in the United Fund of San Mateo County.

Sugar 'n' Spice

By Nell Norton

IT SEEMS that last week's column ended on a note of mystery. The last paragraph was cut off and it contained the last part of the directions for making Chocolate Crackle cookies. And many people called to ask: "What happens after you add the vanilla?" Here is what you do next: sift the dry ingredients together and stir into chocolate mixture. Add nuts and mix thoroughly. Chill soft dough for several hours or overnight.

Shape into small balls and roll in powdered sugar. Bake on greased cookie sheet at 350-degrees for 10 to 12 minutes.

THIS NEXT recipe comes to us from Mrs. Kay Smith of 3849 Louis Avenue, Palo Alto, who made it while I was visiting her. So I know from first hand that it is quick and easy to make and that it s most delicious to eat.

CHINESE CASSEROLE

2 tablespoons oil
1 pound ground beef
1 large onion, chopped
1 cup diced celery
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 can cream of chicken soup
1 cup mushrooms
1½ cups water
1 cup quick rice
¼ cup soy sauce
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 can Chinese noodles

Brown the beef in oil. Add all the rest of the ingredients with the exception of the Chinese noodles. These are added later. Pour into two-quart casserole and cover. Bake in 350-degree oven for 15 minutes. Remove cover and bake 15 minutes more. Finally, add the Chinese noodles, sprinkling them over the top, and bake 20 minutes more. The total cooking time is 50 minutes.

ALONG WITH this delicious dish, Kay served a molded salad that was so good I asked for the recipe for it too. And here it is.

LIME MOLDED SALAD

1 pkg. lime gelatin
1 pkg. lemon gelatin
1 tub cottage cheese, small curd
1 can crushed pineapple (No. 2 size)
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
2 cups of water

Make the jello, using just 2 cups of water. Allow it to chill until syrupy and then add the rest of the ingredients. (Be sure your pineapple is well drained). Pour into mold and chill overnight in refrigerator.

WE ARE ALWAYS on the lookout for new cookie recipes for there is always a damand for fillings for the cookie jar.

CHEWY BUTTERSCOTCH BARS

1⅓ cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed
½ cup margarine
2 eggs, unbeaten
1 cup chopped nuts
1 cup flaked coconut
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Cream sugar and margarine, beat in eggs, one at a time. Mix in nuts, coconut and vanilla, then dry ingredients. Spread batter evenly in a well-greased, lightly floured 11 by 15 by 1-inch pan. Prepare topping and drizzle while hot over batter. Bake in 350-degree oven one-half hour. Cut into bars and remove carefully from pan. Makes about 32.

TOPPING

Stir three-quarter cup brown sugar with two tablespoons margarine, three tablespoons light cream and one-quarter cup dark syrup in saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, to 234 degrees or until a little mixture forms a soft ball in very cold water. Stir in one teaspoon vanilla. Drizzle over batter.

Danny Kaye Prepares Dinner at Johnny Kan's

Credit the AMA convention for adding an extra spark of excitement at the Burlingame Hyatt House—and a very bright one, indeed.

Seems Danny Kaye flew his private plane up from Hollywood, then phoned Johnny Kan at his San Francisco restaurant to reserve a table for he and some guests. But, alas, due to the many doctors in town, Johnny said there would be no tables available until a late hour.

Johnny Kan

This didn't discourage Danny. Being one who not only enjoys Cantonese cuisine, but really knows how to prepare it, he took his party of friends to Kan's at the Hyatt House and went to work in the kitchen cooking a complete dinner on the WOKS. Chef Choy stood aside with a watchful eye on the Kaye kitchen technique and nodded approval at the results.

For a finale, Danny marched out to the dining room carrying high-waiter-fashion a dish of hot steamed salt-fish and pork and deftly served it to Dr. Jacob Yee's table. This has to be the highest salaried waiter in the history of Johnny's Kan's or the Hyatt House.

THE FIREY MUSIC OF THE SPANISH GYPSY will be a new Sinaloa feature, this evening, and will feature Sarita Heredia, one of Spain's most outstanding Flamenco artists. Sarita opens a limited engagement, replacing the dance team of Solar and Lorca, who enjoyed a tremendous success during a six-month engagement here. Also co-starred are Vicky Alvarez, exciting exotic dancer who has appeared three times on the Ed Sullivan TV Show; Victor Buelna, one of Mexico's most popular recording artists and a movie favorite; Raquel Flores, flashing Mexican folk dancer, and Armando Duval, who blends his comic patter with audience participation numbers to the delight of the nightly crowds. Mexican and American food rates equal billing with the entertainment . . . Lovers of fine art are in for a treat when viewing the interior of the International Inn dining room. Many rare paintings are on display here . . . Don Trimmer and his society All Stars play for dancing at the Woodside Pioneer Hotel Friday and Saturday evenings from 9 p.m. . . . Superb service, wonderful food at modest prices covers the Villa Chartier program to perfection. Plenty of banquet space for all party occasions . . . There's always something new happening, menu wise, at Uncle John's Pancake Houses. This time it's "Steak 'n' Eggs with potato pancakes. Sounds like a more than fair to middlin' dish . . . Dancing Friday and Saturday nights to the Frank Borg Trio at the South San Francisco Holiday Inn, a pop meeting place for the smart dinner-dance and late-night cocktail set.

SAN FRANCISCANS had been getting a double-take of Comedienne Phyllis Diller. First, as she is, in the Fairmont Hotel's Venetian Room, and simultaneously a hilarious caricature of her by that clever female impersonator, J. J. VanDyke, at Finocchio's. This popular comic succeeds in making himself look surprisingly like Miss Diller. His performance makes it obvious he has made a thorough study of her style of comedy . . . Burlingame's fashionable La Touraine French restaurant is one of the (if not the only) dining rooms where you can order a souffle and KNOW that it will be perfect. A trick chef Maurice Brossier learned in La Touraine, France . . . Jean Dreschler, manager of the Blue Peacock restaurant in Millbrae, invites you to attend one of the Tuesday fashion shows which are held from 12 noon. This event has caught on quite well—and is something you'll enjoy . . . If you'd like an out-of-the-world dessert, try the home-made strawberry pie as served at the Mountain View Caravan Inn—General Manager Betty Sedam's special recipe.

Barney's Casino Greyhound Bus Service Schedule

Barney's Casino started its Greyhound Bus schedule to Lake Tahoe (South Shore), this week, and it got off to a big start. Seems Peninsulites would rather take the bus than weather the "driving storm." The tentative schedule is a Tuesday 7 p.m. start from Burlingame, also a Thursday 9 a.m. departure. The bus then stops in San Mateo, Redwood City, Palo Alto, Mountain View, San Jose and off to Barney's Casino. Check the advertisement for price and refund.

Barry Ashton's "Barest Musical Revue, Playmates" has been playing to capacity houses since the grand opening in the Chi Chi, last week. The beautiful show girls, in addition to top acts, make this one of San Francisco's hottest show stops.

Keith's Back in Food Action

Keith Williamson is once again "back in the kitchen" preparing his delicious chicken, as in days of yore. Boy! Since Keith is baking the biscuits, even Mother will have to admit they're mighty "homey."

What could be better than a take out order of Keith's fried chicken, plus all the trimmings, for a weekend picnic.

Pianobar entertainment at Joe's of Westlake is a cozy way to spend the leisure after-dinner hours.

Phil Lehr's downtown Steakery features the only major improvement in since that popular sandwich a hamburger was created. It's served at luncheon on a roll baked to Phil's order.

This is the ideal time of year for Sunday morning brunch—and Ron Giannotti's Surf House is the ideal place. Food prepared by chef Louis De Marzo; Ron personally mixes the fizzes.

Sil Oliva, owner of the Exposition Fish Grotto, comes up with these words of wisdom: "No matter how busy a man is, he's never too busy to stop and tell you how busy he is."

New Look is Suspenders

At Peppermint Tree, The Cascades have the young set dancing their wildest to date. In fact, the latest men's fashion vogue with the shake-rattle and rollers is an item of long-standing history in men's apparel — rarely seen on youngin's, of late. Yep, suspenders is the new look—and without 'em they'd literally shake right out of their slacks.

I made mention in the Vacation and Restaurant Edition that the Peacock Restaurant is in Burlingame. Not so. It WAS in Burlingame, but is now located in Redwood City (2039 Broadway, to be exact). Chinese and American dishes served for both luncheon and dinner.

Haig Mardikian Restaurateur

Haig Mardikian, son of Restaurateur George Mardikian, owner of the world famed Omar Khayyam's restaurant, although only 17 years of age, has "years" of experience in the restaurant business. He's attended various schools and worked his way up from chores in the kitchen to bus boy, to a junior executive position in his father's thriving San Francisco restaurant.

When it comes to Mexican food, you'll make no mistake by choosing Pancho's Mexican Cafe in Redwood City. Authentic Mexican dishes that are not listed on the usual Mexican food menus are served here.

"Spice on Ice," the new and lavish ice show imported directly from Miami Beach, is now at the beautiful new Cal-Neva Lodge on the north end of Lake Tahoe. It features a fully-costumed early show with a more spicy "adult only" midnight show.

Enrico Romano, "Barney Oldfield" of Pacifica, identifies the Stone Age as "The last half hour of a very long cocktail party."

Chuck Herschler Dines at the Sheraton-Villa

This letter from Chuck Herschler speaks for itself and also for the Sheraton-Villa Motor Inn: "Hi, Lloyd. Just a short note to tell you that Virginia and I stopped at the Sheraton-Villa for lunch, last Sunday, and to see Walter. The lunch was the best. We had veal cutlets with super sauce, Ris De Veaux a la Creme (Creamed sweetbreads), Filet of Sole Marguerite. All three were delish! Of course, Walter's personal maitre d' touch and a special dessert made our day. See you soon. Chuck Herschler. P.S.: We had three people."

I'm glad Chuck added the P.S.—it would have been quite a meal for only two. Because the food is that tempting, I wouldn't have blamed the Herschlers for enjoying three orders.

Watermelon Very Useful

This being watermelon season, Chef Lou Bottero of Rocca's restaurant points out that it's one fruit you can use totally. You can use every part of it, not just the cooling red meat inside. You can pickle the rind or make it into a relish. The seeds you can roast and use for garnishing salads. Lou's grandmother used to do it.

Frankie Bruno, the well-known character and guy-about-town, held his recent wedding reception and dinner at Lew Lehr's in the Marina.

Skylark Restaurant Same Owners New Management

During my vacation, last week, a Skylark restaurant advertisement appeared on the Bright Lights page announcing a grand opening — which led some folks to believe that the restaurant had been sold. This is not so. The only change here is in the operation—which is now under the direction of Chef Arnaud, former sous chef at the Cote d' Azur in Atherton. Steaks are the house specialty. You owe it to yourselves to stop by and enjoy the best.

The Brentwood Lodge in Burlingame will not be open through July 12. Reason? 'Tis vacation time! They will reopen on Monday, July 13.

Add Spicy Touch to A Chicken

Fried chicken, an old American favorite, is served in more ways than there are days in the year. Here is still another version and a decidely delicious addition.

The chicken is spread generously with spicy brown prepared mustard and then coated with seasoned flour and oven fried. There is just the hint of a tang from the mustard but it does not overpower the delicate chicken flavor.

A welcome dish at any time, the mustard fried chicken is delicious served with corn-on-the-cob, sliced tomatoes with chives, hot biscuits, and iced tea.

MUSTARD FRIED CHICKEN

2 (3-lb.) chicken broiler-fryers
½ cup Spicy Brown Prepared Mustard
½ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or margarine

Heat oven 425 degrees. Have chicken cut into pieces. Spread pieces of chicken generously with brown prepared mustard. Mix flour and salt and coat chicken with seasoned flour. Melt 1 tablespoon butter in shallow baking pan. Place chicken pieces, one layer deep, skin side down, in pan. Top generously with small pieces of butter. Bake for 30 minutes. Turn chicken and top again with small pieces of butter. Continue to bake for 15 minutes longer. Makes 4-6 servings.

The Treat Is Cooked Outdoors

Whether you enjoy chili hot dogs under azure skies streaked with gold or under a black velvet backdrop for twinkling stars, these sandwiches are perfect for cookouts.

After the fire is properly prepared, put canned chili, either hot or regular variety, in a skillet on the grill.

furters sizzle and cook, and if Let this heat while the frankyou wish, toast the buns, too. Then create the treat with a bun, a frankfurter, and very generous spoonsful of heated chili spooned over the frankfurter. It's so good.

To make a complete outdoor meal, serve a crisp green salad, pickles and olives, cold drink, and perhaps, ripe melon slices.

CHILI FRANKFURTERS

1 (15° oz.) can Chili Con Carne
8 frankfurters
8 frankfurter rolls
3 tablespoons brown prepared mustard

Put the chili in a skillet and heat. Place frankfurters on a grill and cook until browned. Heat the rolls, if desired. To serve, split the rolls lengthwise. Spread one side with mustard. Put frankfurters on rolls. Spoon chili generously over frankfurters. Makes 8 sandwiches.

NEW TWIST

To vary the brunch entree of creamed chipped beef on toast, stir crumbles of American blue cheese into the cream sauce. Use about ¼ cup of American blue cheese for each cup of medium cream sauce.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Lamb Rib Chops.

Q. Where do they come from and how are they identified?

A. They come from the rack section of lamb (comparable to the rib section of beef) and contain the rib bone and rib eye muscle.

Q. How are they prepared?

A. By broiling. Place chops on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan and rack so the top of 1-inch chops is 2 to 3 inches from the heat; 3 to 5 inches for 2-inch chops. When one side is browned, turn and finish cooking on second side. Chops cut 1 inch thick require 10 to 12 minutes. Chops cut 2 inches thick require 20 to 22 minutes. Season after broiling.

Apricots Are a California Treat

Those plump, richly flavored fresh apricots now in fruit markets were grown specially for tucking into lunches, enhancing fresh fruit salads, and adding new flavor and color to entrees.

The uses of apricots in desserts is endless, but combined with roasted almonds in a mousse or ice cream, upside down cake, and cobblers, they are especially satisfying.

Apricots are plentiful, particularly in the West. Last year California produced an astounding 92 per cent of the nation's apricot crop. This 190,000-ton crop was valued at over $21 million.

California apricot growers channel their fruit at this time according to whether the fruit is destined for the fresh market, canning, freezing, or drying.

HAM AND APRICOT SALAD

1 clove garlic
2 cups cubed, cooked ham or chicken
1½ cups apricots, sliced
1 cup diced celery
½ cup chopped walnuts
1-3 cup minced onion
1-3 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons heavy cream
1 tablespoon vinegar
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper

Rub bowl with cut garlic. Mix ham or chicken, apricot slices, celery, walnuts, and onion in bowl. Combine mayonnaise, cream, vinegar, salt, and pepper; add to ham mixture; toss. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

APRICOT TEA RING

1 package sweet roll mix
1 cup dried apricots, cooked, drained, and chopped
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon cinnamon or nutmeg
½ cup sugar

Prepare sweet roll mix according to directions on the package. While it is rising, combine apricots, lemon juice, cinnamon or nutmeg, and sugar in saucepan. Simmer until thick, stirring occasionally. Cool.

Roll the dough to a 14 by 12 inch rectangle. Spread with apricot filling. Roll as for a jelly roll and seal ends. Shape into a ring on a greased baking sheet. With scissors, cut two-thirds through the ring at 1-inch intervals around outer edge. Turn each cut piece on its side. Cover and let rise. Bake at 375 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes. Glaze and add chopped or slivered almonds, if desired.

APRICOT PANCAKES

6 pancakes
1 package cream cheese
Milk
Apricot jam

Whip the cream cheese with a small amount of milk. Spread on the pancakes while they are still warm. Over this spread a thin layer of apricot jam. Roll up the pancakes and serve.

APRICOT ALMOND ICE CREAM

2 cups drained, sweetened and chopped apricots
1 15-ounce can (1 1-3 cups) sweetened condensed milk
¾ cups water
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
½ cup blanched almonds, slivered and toasted

Combine all ingredients except whipped cream and almonds; pour into refrigerator trays. Freeze till firm; break in chunks and beat with electric beater till fluffy (or freeze till partially frozen; beat smooth with rotary beater). Fold in whipped cream and almonds. Return to trays. Freeze firm, 4 to 6 hours. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Baked Pork Chops With Nectarines

Pork chops and fresh nectarines go together as if they were made for each other, a fact easily proved by "Baked Pork Chops with Nectarines." Heating nectarines does wonders for their flavor and fragrance, whether in main dishes such as this one or in pies, cakes or puddings. Most people don't even bother to remove the smooth, fuzzless red-and-gold skin of nectarines when using the fruit in recipes or eating it out-of-hand.

BAKED PORK CHOPS WITH NECTARINES

4 pork chops, ¾-inch thick
Salt
Pepper
2 fresh nectarines
¼ cup brown sugar, packed
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 tablespoon granulated sugar
¼ cup white dinner wine or water
1 cup dairy sour cream
¼ teaspoon thyme
Pinch or marjoram

Trim pork chops; brown lightly in hot skillet. Season with salt and pepper. Halve nectarines. Place a nectarine half on each chop, cut-side up; sprinkle with brown sugar. Combine remaining ingredients; pour over chops and nectarines. Cover and bake in 350-degree (moderate) oven about 1 hour or until done. Makes 4 servings.

BROIL GRAPEFRUIT

Top grapefruit halves with crumbled American blue cheese and broil just until the cheese begins to melt.

A Simple Avocado Dish

It's simplicity itself to prepare "Avocado-Onion Appetizers"—zestily seasoned mashed California avocado spread on bread and sprinkled with French-fried onions. To make sure that summer varieties of California avocados are eating-ripe, insert a toothpick in the stem end of the fruit; if the pick slides in easily, the avocado is ready for your eating enjoyment.

Avocado-Onion Appetizers

2 California avocados
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon chopped green onion
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon coarsely ground pepper
Dash garlic powder
Dash cayenne
Buffet rye bread, Melba toast rounds or crackers
1 can (3½ oz.) French-fried onions.

Cut avocados lengthwise into halves; remove seeds and skin. Mash avocado with a fork or sieve. Add all remaining ingredients except bread and French-fried onions. Mix well. Spread on bread; sprinkle with French-fried onions. Makes 1½ cups.

Summer Party Prize Desserts

A big reason for the popularity of ice cream as a dessert is its ever-easy accessibility in the freezer. Take a cue from this, and when you entertain this summer, plan desserts that can be made in advance and frozen until serving time.

Equally attractive is Raspberry Cheese Torte. Make it in a spring-form pan and use a similar corn flake crumbs mixture for the bottom crust. Top the cream cheese filling with sparkling red raspberry preserves.

Ice cream is part of the filling for one such dessert, Choco-Nut Parfait Pie. Layered with fudge sauce and topped with pecans, the filling is enclosed in a quick-to-make shell of packaged corn flake crumbs, sugar and butter. For added crispness, the crust can be baked before it is filled. Serve additional chocolate sauce—hot or cold—with the pie.

Frozen Lemon Crunch is made in a rectangular pan. The crunchy mixture that tops the tart lemon filling combines packaged corn flake crumbs, brown sugar, butter and nuts. The ingredients are cooked together in a fry pan to give an appealing caramel flavor.

CHOCO-NUT PARFAIT PIE

4 cups corn flakes or
1 cup packaged corn flake crumbs
2 tablespoons sugar
1-3 cup soft or melted butter or margarine

1 quart vanilla ice cream, slightly softened
1 cup (12-ounce jar) chocolate fudge sauce
Pecan halves

If using corn flakes, crush into fine crumbs. Combine corn flake crumbs, sugar and butter in 9-inch pie pan; mix well. Press evenly and firmly around sides and bottom of pie pan. Chill.

Spoon half of ice cream over crumbs crust; cover with half of chocolate sauce. Repeat with remaining ice cream and chocolate sauce. Arrange pecans on top. Freeze until firm, 3 to 5 hours. Cut in wedges to serve. Yield: 8 servings.

Note: If a more crisp crust is desired, bake corn flake crumbs shell in slow oven (300 degrees) for 5 minutes before chilling.

RASPBERRY CHEESE TORTE

4 cups corn flakes or
1 cup packaged corn flake crumbs
2 tablespoons sugar
1-3 cup soft or melted butter or margarine

1 pound cream cheese, softened
2 cups light corn syrup
2 cups milk
2 teaspoons vanilla flavoring
1 cup (12-ounce jar) red raspberry preserves

If using corn flakes, crush into fine crumbs. Combine corn flake crumbs, sugar and butter; mix well. Press mixture in bottom of 9-inch spring-form pan. Chill.

Combine cream cheese and corn syrup. Stir in milk and vanilla; mix until well blended. Pour over crumbs; freeze until firm, about 4 hours. To serve, remove rim of pan; top with preserves. Cut in wedges. Yield: 12 servings.

FROZEN LEMON CRUNCH

2 cups corn flakes or
½ cup packaged corn flake crumbs
3 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
½ cup chopped nutmeats

3 eggs, separated
½ cup granulated sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup whipping cream

If using corn flakes, crush into fine crumbs. Combine corn flake crumbs, brown sugar, butter and nutmeats in heavy fry pan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until sugar is melted. Cool.

Beat egg yolks with granulated sugar until thick. Cook over hot water about 5 minutes, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Remove from heat; stir in lemon juice. Cool. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Whip cream; fold into egg yolk mixture together with egg whites. Pour into waxed paper-lined 11 x 7-inch pan. Sprinkle with crunch mixture. Freeze until firm. Cut into squares to serve. Yield: 8 to 10 servings.

Dressy Olive Clam Salad

A gelatin mold can be one of the eating delights of the summer season—and "Dressy Olive-Clam Salad" definitely is! Its ripe olive rings, minced clams and chopped green pepper chilled in plain gelatin perked up with salad dressing, tomato sauce and lively seasonings insure a zippy salad for warm-weather appetities.

DRESSY OLIVE-CLAM SALAD

½ cup pitted ripe olives
1 envelope plain gelatin
1¼ cups cold water
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ cup tomato sauce
½ cup salad dressing
Dash Tabasco
3 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
1 can (7 ounce) minced clams drained

Slice olives into rings. Mix gelatin and cold water; heat, stirring to dissolve. Stir in salt, lemon juice, tomato sauce, salad dressing and Tabasco. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in green pepper, clams and olives. Turn into 3-cup mold and chill until firm. Unmold on serving plate; garnish with lettuce or celery leaves if you like. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

A Summertime Snack Drink

After play, children generally dash in and ask: "What's for a snack?" For a pleasing answer, make it Chocolate Vanilla Float. This delicious concoction is a snap to make, for it takes only two ingredients—chocolate flavored drink and plenty of vanilla ice cream.

For each serving, pour the milk-based chocolate drink into the mugs. Use large mugs for handy serving. Add a large scoop of vanilla ice cream and presto—the float's ready to be enjoyed. For an extra fancy finish, decorate the ice cream with chocolate sprinkles.

In addition to its taste appeal, Chocolate Vanilla Float contains good amounts of Vitamins A, B-1, B-2, D and calcium, home economists say. This concoction will prove most popular for the teen-age set, but grown-ups will go for it as well.

Mix thoroughly, and add remaining flour gradually. Knead until smooth. Cover and set in warm place for about 45 minutes until dough doubles in bulk. Punch down and knead again slightly. Team Tuna and Cottage Cheese

Salad time is here and one of the most popular foods for salads is tuna fish. Here is a tempting version of this old favorite. It's a combination of tuna fish, cottage cheese and avocado and is loaded with good nutrition as well as flavor.

Serve Cottage Cheese Tuna Salad in lettuce cups. Top with cool cucumber slices. Arrange tomato wedges and halves of hard cooked eggs around each salad.

COTTAGE CHEESE TUNA SALAD
(Makes 3 to 4 servings)

- 1 ripe avocado
- 2 cups (1 lb. container) cottage cheese, sieved
- 1 ablespoon grated onion
- 2 easpoons lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper

Place tuna fish in sieve; pour hot water over fish to remove oil. Drain well. Peel avocado; remove pit. Press cottage cheese and avocado through a sieve. Add onion, lemon juice, salt and pepper; blend thoroughly. Stir in tuna fish. Chill.

Here's Idea For Gelatin Party Treat

Gelatin desserts and salads always are popular, but especially at this time of year. They are easy to prepare and can hold a wealth of good things, such as raw vegetables, fresh fruit or even meat or fish.

Here is a gelatin salad that can be prepared in the cool of the morning. It is an easy accompaniment to any spring meal.

Peachy Blue Cheese Mold combines sweet peach slices, crunchy water chestnuts, ripe olives and tangy American blue cheese in a lemon gelatin base. The zesty flavor of the American blue cheese enhances the sweet flavor of the peaches.

Delicious as a salad, it could be prepared as an elegant dessert, using chopped nuts instead of olives and water chestnuts.

PEACHY BLUE CHEESE MOLD

- 1 can (1 lb.) peach slices
- 2 3-ounce packages lemon gelatin
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- ¼ cup chopped water chestnuts
- ¼ cup sliced ripe olives
- ¼ cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 1¼ oz.)

Drain syrup from peaches. Add enough water to make 1 cup. Heat syrup and dissolve gelatin in it. Blend in mayonnaise. Chill until gelatin just begins to set. Mix in water chestnuts, olives, American blue cheese and peach slices, reserving some for garnish. Pour into 1 quart mold and chill until set. Unmold and garnish with peach slices, lettuce and dollops of mayonnaise.

Peach Once Was Called Persian Apple

For over 200 years it was believed the peach came from Persia. The botanical name of the fruit comes from the Latin meaning of the word "Persian." Peaches were once called "Persian apples."

Today, most authorities agree the original home of the peach is China. From China it traveled to Persia and then to Europe along caravan routes in the pre-Christian era. The peach has been cultivated in China since at least the tenth century B.C.

References to the "tao," meaning peach, have been found in the writings of Confucious in the fifth century B.C. Some ancient Chinese writers called the peach the tree of life, some the tree of death, and for others it symbolized longevity. The peach was painted on special plates and bowls used for birthday feasts.

The Spaniards are believed to have brought peach seeds and trees for planting to America on the second voyage of Columbus. Commercial peach production began in the United States in the early 1800's. California now ranks first among all states in the value of her peach crop.

The Elberta variety, which took the lead in commercial production in the early 1900's was developed from a seed of the Chinese Cling variety. Since then much research has been carried on to develop new varieties with good quality characteristics. Also, the agricultural scientists have been breeding varieties which have earlier and later maturity dates which have extended the fresh peach season over a longer period. While there are several thousand named varieties of peaches only about 25 are produced on a commercial scale in California at the present time.

Peach varieties are classified as "clingstone" or "freestone." As the name indicates, the flesh of the clingstone peach is firmly attached to the stone, while that of the freestone peach is easily separated from the stone. There are also semi-freestone varieties. In general, freestone types are marketed fresh and clingstone types are processed. However, since certain varieties of clingstone and semi-clingstone peaches mature earlier than freestone varieties, these are marketed fresh. Today, we can enjoy fresh peaches on the menu as early as the month of May.

Peaches are generally harvested according to their background color, which turns from green to yellow as they mature. When a peach has reached that stage of growth which will insure proper completion of the ripening process, it is "mature" and ready for harvest.

Ripening of mature peaches may take place either on or off the tree. However, there is no increase in sugar content when the peach has been picked from the tree. Peaches have no reserve of starch, as is found in pears, for example, to convert to sugar in the ripening process. Ripening in peaches consists primarily of softening, development of juiciness, and development of flavor.

Good quality peaches are bright in appearance and firm, or fairly firm. Red color, or "blush," will differ in amount depending on the variety. Therefore, the best way to determine the degree of ripeness is to look at the background color, which should be either yellowish or creamy. A green background color indicates the peaches were immature when picked and will not ripen well.

A fully ripened peach, ready for eating, naturally bruises easily and is difficult to ship to market. Therefore, peaches are most often picked at a mature, firm stage.

NOTE—In the above tabulation of the tides the daily tides are given in the order of the occurrence commencing with the early morning tide and the successive tides as they occur. On some days but three tides occur the fourth occurring the following morning.

The columns at heights give the elevation of each tide above or below the level of Coast Survey chart surroundings The numbers are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign or dash (-) when the numbers are subtracted from the depths given by the chart (U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey)
